

Mrs. Virginia Wolfs, 38, Milwaukee, told Wednesday how she crept from her apartment in the middle of the night and used a .22 caliber rifle to get the drop on a peeping tom. She kept him covered until a policeman arrived and asked her to put down the gun. She did, and the peeper fled. He was picked up by police later.

Death Toll Mounts With 279 Dead in Coal Mine Disaster

Rescue Teams Continue to Work With 70 Miners Still Missing

SAARBRÜCKEN, Germany—Another report said that the 279 dead and many seriously injured in Germany's second worst coal mining disaster.

Up to 70 miners are believed still missing. The bodies of miners—buried or crushed under tons of pebbles—are dim that any of the coal and rock—were being extra-trapped men will be recovered.

Many of the rescuers were among the 200 miners who escaped when a sheet of flame shot through the main shaft and set off a terrific blast that sent miners flying and brought tunnel walls and ceilings crashing down 1,800 feet below the surface.

Hit by First "It felt like being hit by a giant fist," said George Kneip, 21, who was in Gallery No. 2. Grey, dirty clouds filled the part of the Gallery 1 was in.

Expect Army Change in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Major reorganization of the U.S. military and mission in South Viet Nam is expected within the next few days to give the United States much more influence over the conduct of South Viet Nam war against the Communist Viet Cong.

The nature of the reorganization is a closely guarded secret. But among changes expected is the appointment of a full general to head the U.S. Military Advisory Assistance Group here. The mission now is commanded by Lt. Gen. Lionel C. McGarr.

Another expected change in organization would bring the U.S. forces here into much closer liaison with the Vietnamese forces. They are assigned to train and support. Presumably this would mean creation of joint U.S.-Vietnamese command teams.

At present the 4,000 U.S. officers and men serving here are at the disposal of the Vietnamese military commanders and are being used as the Vietnamese think they are needed for training, communications, general support, and transportation.

The anticipated change would give the U.S. advisers and support groups a much stronger say in the conduct of the war against the rebel guerrillas.

U.S. Britain Clear Way for Renewal of Nuclear Testing

Machine Guns Appearing in Heart of Paris

French Government Reacting to New Wave of Terrorism

Chicago Daily News Service

PARIS—Military vehicles with machine guns mounted on them appeared in the downtown streets of Paris today, visible evidence of government determination to put an end to the Secret Army Organization's campaign of terror. The vehicles previously had been camouflaged in strategic locations around the capital.

The new government move followed the explosion of 10 plastic bomb explosions Wednesday and a Secret Army warning that more could be expected today. The bombs were exploded Wednesday at the homes of pro-Gaullist politicians, newspaper men, French Defense Department officials and communist leaders.

The explosions injured three people, none of them concerned in government or political affairs, and one 4-year-old girl. The girl, Delphine Renard, was seriously injured in her eyes by flying debris.

Not Crippled

It was the first outbreak of rightist violence in three weeks and apparently was intended to demonstrate that the Secret Army, hadn't been crippled by the arrest of Philippe Castille, whom Secret Army chief Gen. Raoul Salan had put in charge of plastic terrorism in France.

However, there were indications that the terrorists were using less experienced or less determined help than they have had in the past.

Most of Wednesday's bombs were exploded far from their apparent targets and often in locations that were not expected.

Two Astronauts Scheduled for 18 Space Trips

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Mercury astronauts are scheduled to make 18-orbit flights this year.

James A. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said each flight would keep an astronaut in space for 27 hours.

The orbits would be made at satellite velocities of about 17,500 miles an hour.

Writing in Aerospace official publication of the Aerospace Industries Association, Webb said the flights would test man's ability to live and work in the space environment.

Webb said that beyond the Mercury program, a major launch scheduled for 1962 would be the orbiting solar observatory.

Reaction to Kennedy's Barbs

GOP Preparing Broad Sketch of Party Beliefs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Drawn from which individual members clatter together by barbs fired at can go where they want. Goldwater said.

Goldwater and another prominent Republican, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, were the subjects of Kennedy's political barbs at Wednesday's news conference.

Subject of Barbs

Rockefeller has accused the President of indulging in "political fakery" by announcing he would appoint housing administrator Robert C. Weaver, a Negro, to head the proposed new urban affairs department.

Kennedy said he had read with interest that radio commentator Fulton Lewis had told a meeting of conservatives "nobody could get to the right of Goldwater. Kennedy added with a broad smile, "Now I am not so sure." To this, Goldwater replied, "I'm getting to the right of Barry Goldwater means pointing up the political convivance of President Kennedy. Gov. Rockefeller made a very proper and long overture move."

JFK Plans All-Out Fight for School Bill

President Repeats Opposition Against Using Public Funds To Help Parochial Education

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is set to throw all his energy into battle for federal aid to public schools—but not to parochial schools.

The President told a news conference Wednesday he thinks his three-year $2.1 billion program for public school construction and teachers' salaries is so urgent, "I will do everything I can to have the Congress take favorable action on this subject this year."

Romney Likely GOP Candidate for Governor

Firm May Spend $54 Million for Company Expansion

DETROIT (AP)—George Romney gave what appeared to be indications to stockholders of American Motors Corp. he will be a Republican candidate for governor of Michigan and will resign as both chairman and president of the corporation for the race.

But he insisted repeatedly at a meeting of stockholders here Wednesday his final decision has not been reached. He said it likely would be Friday, but reiterated there would be no announcement before 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Praised Play

At Wednesday's meeting of stockholders, Jack Ben, president of the United Auto Workers Local 75 that represents unionists in AMC's plant at Kenosha, Wis., expressed hope that Romney would stay with the corporation and praised AMC's new profit-sharing contract with the UAW.

Romney and management's other 11 nominees for director won overwhelming reelection. The closest vote of the day was on whether the company should adopt cumulative voting and this was defeated upon management's recommendation, 10,666 130 shares to 1,082 015.

Under cumulative voting a

Superior Plane Crash Kills 2

SUPERIOR (AP)—A light plane, possibly an Air Force trainer, crashed near the edge of a runway at Richard I. Bong Field in the heart of Superior today, killing two persons.

Neither the aircraft nor the passengers were identified immediately.

An eyewitness said that the plane appeared to be making a landing approach when it stalled out and plummeted to earth.

New Space Center To be in Use Soon

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The new $90 million manned space research laboratory here soon will become a center of astronaut activities.

It Col. John Powers, public affairs director for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Wednesday that some of the seven U.S. astronauts may arrive in four to six weeks.

Crashed Plane Report Found to be False

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Reports of a crashed airplane in the Gulf of Mexico sent Coast Guard rescue craft to the scene only to find the wreckage apparently was from a drone aircraft used for antiaircraft target practice.

On other issues, the President said.

He would not hesitate to resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere if he finds them essential.

There is a need under any future nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviets for measures not only to prevent sneak tests but also to prevent a recurrence of secret preparations for testing. This last point in effect added a new condition for a treaty with the Soviets.

He took the United States must keep on working toward a general disarmament treaty backed by effective controls.

He stands squarely behind Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's refusal before Senate investigators to link individual Pentagon censors with specific changes made in speeches by uniformed officers. He said questioning of the censors about particular items of editing would amount to harassment. And he added that executive privilege would be invoked if necessary to keep the information from the Senate before group.

The question of school aid came up when a reporter noted that Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York had said the administration proposal would doom the parochial school system. Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, asserted that there had been no change in his position—that across the board aid to church schools is unconstitutional. And it won't change until

Jayne Mansfield Found on Beach Of Rose Island After Long Search

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Movie actress Jayne Mansfield returned Wednesday night from the island and her husband, a former Mr. Universe.

They were removed by a fishing boat and returned to Nassau. The U.S. Coast Guard said they were suffering slight exposure because they were dressed only in swimsuits. Temperatures field missed at 6 p.m. (EST) news conference in Nassau.

At 8:30 p.m., a search was begun. The report of the find of the overturned boat with a blink on steering column touched off a wider more intense hunt.

All three were reported level with the water. Rose Island is some six miles from Nassau. It is about nine miles long and a half mile wide. Photographers in other boats and virtually uninhabited. There followed for about a mile, shooting are no communications.

Actress Jayne Mansfield, Her Husband Mickey Hargitay and a guest, Jack Drury, Ft. Lauderdale, were found today on a beach off Nassau after an all-night search when they failed to return from a water sking venture. Searchers found their overturned boat Wednesday night, after the party was long overdue for a press conference.

Kennedy, Macmillian Also Make Appeal to Russia For Halt in Arms Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Britain cleared the way today for nuclear weapons testing at Christmas Island in the mid-Pacific. Simultaneously, they appealed to Russia for a new "supreme effort" to halt the nuclear arms race.

President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called in a statement for an East-West foreign ministers meeting to open disarmament negotiations.

They implied readiness to consider a summit conference at lower-level talks made progress.

But in the arms race itself they asserted that Russia's recent massive test of nuclear weapons have brought the competition in weapons development to a state which would justify the West in making such further series of nuclear tests as may be necessary for purely military reasons.

Macmillan agreed that Christmas Island, more than 1,000 miles south of Hawaii in the mid-Pacific, could be used by the United States for weapons tests in the atmosphere. The United States has agreed that the British can test underground in Nevada. It was announced by the Atomic Energy Commission that there will be a test of low yield British nuclear device there within a few weeks.

The joint Kennedy-Macmillan statement was the second strong indication that within 24 hours Kennedy will order atmospheric tests within the month. He told a news conference Wednesday that the United States security is sufficient today and tomorrow, but that the longer future—he mentioned a period of four years—is a much graver matter.

Today's Kennedy-Macmillan statement described the Russian tests as "massive" and as an important factor in the existing state of nuclear development.

Tiros Weather Satellite Is Fired Into Orbit

All Stages Ignite Successfully During Flight Into Space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Tiros IV, the fourth in a series of high-flying electronic weather satellites, soared into orbit today to photograph the earth's cloud cover.

The 265-pound camera-carrying satellite rose skyward in the nose of a 90-foot Thor Delta rocket which blasted off at 7:44 a.m.

All three stages of the booster fired on schedule and two hours later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the package was in orbit about 400 miles above the earth.

Confirmation of orbit came when the Wallops Island Va., tracking station picked up signals from Tiros IV as it zipped overhead at the end of one orbit at 9:16 a.m.

Two TV cameras carried in the satellite were to begin transmitting pictures once orbit was achieved. There was no immediate word whether the cameras were working.

The Tiros series is intended as

The Problems of the Aged

It was a thoughtful summary that Gov. Gaylor Nelson read to the members of the new state statutory Commission on the Aging as he greeted the group at its first meeting in the state capitol the other day. But it betrayed also, it seemed to some listeners, a temptation on the part of the political head of the state to suggest premature conclusions to the study group which owes its creation to him.

The governor talked about the problems of retirement and employment and recreation of the elderly among us, about the possibilities of providing vocational re-training services for the benefit of those persons who have been retired from their usual work but who have a will and energy remaining for some kind of productive employment, and related topics.

But then he launched into a discussion of the health problems of the aged and virtually proposed that the group get behind the campaign to enact a federal government health care program through the instrument of the old age and survivors' insurance program.

The governor is committed to that method of meeting the health care and medical economics problem of the elderly. He has a right to his viewpoint. It is widely shared, as is evident in the heightened national discussions on the subject as Congress currently considers it. But it is scarcely a graceful gesture toward a group he created for investigation and study, as preliminaries to conclusions and recommendations.

The governor said he is convinced, without quite explaining how he came to be convinced, that private health insurance contracts cannot be adequate for most Americans. Yet the record shows that there are millions of Americans so enrolled, to their own satisfaction and to those of their families. He appears to reject the idea of a state medical care program, as contemplated under the Kerr-Mills federal act which offers a share of the money such state legislation would involve, out of hand. Indeed, he doesn't even mention it in his charge to this investigative group, although the issue was before the legislature which departed the capitol only a few weeks ago.

We will credit the governor with the humane concern for the happiness and comfort of our elderly citizens that is shared by the vast majority of his constituents. But we wish he would concede that these are difficult and complex matters, and that there is no divinely ordained method of approaching them. We wish also that he would concede, even obliquely, that there are many other men of good will who dread the collectivist implications of his choice.

Cuban Embargo

The new United States embargo upon goods to and from Cuba reflects a new trend in our relations with Communist countries. But apparently it is an interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine since we do not apply such stringent rules in dealing with most other Red regimes.

We cut off most trade with Cuba some time ago when Castro began his extreme tirades against the United States. But we have continued to buy about $3½ million per month worth of goods from Cuba, mostly tobacco for Florida cigar factories. And we have sold up to a million dollars worth of food and medicine per month although the trade has trickled down to about $10,000 which apparently will not even now be cut off.

Our trade relations with other Red regimes are much better. We have trade agreements with the Soviet Union, with Poland, with Yugoslavia, with most of the satellites but not with Red China. We have other agreements whereby we sell surplus foods to these countries in exchange for their own currency which has to be spent within their borders. There are items from Communist countries on sale in the community.

United States exporters are restricted from selling a long list of "strategic" materials to Communist nations. We have no trade agreements with Red China since we do not officially recognize its government as legitimate.

Trade agreements have been rationalized on several grounds. To some extent they help our balance of trade. We have sympathy for the people of the "captive" nations and hope to encourage them. We would like to lure others away from reliance upon the Soviet Union. A comparison of our consumer goods and those made in Red countries will tell their own story to the people. Trade agreements, like cultural exchanges, are supposed to bring even enemy nations closer together in the people-to-people philosophy. In a practical sense the Red nations get the goods anyway through trade with Canada and other nations which may buy our goods to sell elsewhere.

But all these arguments have not been used concerning Cuba. Castro hasn't said anything worse about the United States than has Tito or Khrushchev. Is it because Cuba is in this hemisphere? Are we calling Russia's bluff in its aim to replace us in Cuba? Or is the tightening of the embargo mostly propaganda like our threats of "massive review" of our foreign-aid last summer?

Presumably Sec. of State Dean Rusk is trying by example to persuade the other Latin American nations to impose similar embargoes upon Cuba. Because of the proximity of the country and its racial and cultural ties to Latin America this could be a powerful influence. We could never hope to persuade Peru, for instance, to boycott Yugoslavian goods. But to many Latin American nations Cuba is a blood relation, a member of the family who must be chastised. The emotional aspect of this can have a practical application.

But we cannot defend our action by saying we refuse to trade with Red countries. That isn't true. There may be more disagreements within the State Department over this policy than have been publicized.

Medical Research

People occasionally read in the news of new medical discoveries but few give thought to the years of research that may have been necessary before the announcement could be made. Medical research is going on all around us. Most of it is performed quietly and although thousands of persons may be reached in the study, there is no commotion, no noise and few, even those who may be contributing to the study, realize what is taking place.

At the moment more than 75,000 expectant mothers are providing blood samples for a study of the role played by maternal virus infection in mental retardation, Monozism, cerebral palsy and other diseases of the newborn. This unprecedented study is going on at the National Institutes of Health at Bethesda, Maryland.

Blood samples are being collected from expectant mothers at 15 medical centers throughout the nation. Samples are sent to the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness where the blood is tested to determine whether the mother has been exposed to one or more of the 100 viruses ranging from common cold to polio. This blood sample study is only a part of a larger project under which it is intended to make periodic examinations and keep records on pregnant women and their babies in 15 medical centers for at least 10 years.

The infections of pregnant women, their age and nutrition already have been linked to some retardations and deformities of children, it is reported. This study is an effort to better define the role of these conditions.

It is hoped that better knowledge of what infections can cause deformities and retardations will result. Eventually it is hoped that vaccines will be produced which in turn may be given to newly wed women with a view of protecting their future children.

The vaccines of course are a hope for the future. In the meantime, however, the studies go on involving literally thousands of persons. Many of the 75,000 women, perhaps, do not even know that they are contributing to this study. Some day an announcement may be made of the results but at that time perhaps little will be said of the hours of work that are being performed today.

Sketch of Bomb Called Dangerous

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I was shocked recently to pick up the Post-Crescent and find before my eyes on the front page a complete, working blueprint for a time bomb, simple enough for a junior high science student to assemble. The ingredients are so simple and readily available that it is almost funny: wires, timer, and battery from a hardware store; caps and dynamite from any construction blasting project. Thus, with the use of your conveniently supplied diagram, any person with access to caps and high explosive material can make his own time bomb, become another "Mad Bomber."

You should have realized that diagrams, especially simple ones, for such novel things as time bombs stimulate people to try to build such devices or at least stimulate their thinking about such devices. The large-type caption of the picture guarantees the success of such devices built using the diagram — the FBI has said the bomb is workable.

The diagram has no accompanying article in the paper; in fact, it is not even about a current "front-page" news story. The picture was printed for sensationalism, and I expect it to cause quite a sensation among people with concealed desires to experiment with time bombs.

I am very surprised a paper of the caliber of the APC would print such a dangerous diagram in their newspaper. I would expect such a picture in the New York Daily News, not in a paper which won a prize in a nationwide newspaper contest. It is no excuse to say you printed it because it came over the Associated Press wires to you; can't you censor what goes in your own newspaper?

There is no more hideous dan-

Calumet Co. Park Never Planned For the Thousands Who Use It

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The letter from J. C. T. Appleton, recently printed in the People's Forum concerning Calumet County parks was very interesting. Presumably, it was written by a woman who is a mother. I am in that same category, so feel, perhaps, she needs a reply. Also, I'm a taxpayer in Calumet County and have been for the past 15 years, the total time I have lived in this county, so I feel I have a right to answer her complaint. My neighbors feel as I do in this matter so I also am speaking for them.

When the park (Calumet County) was first started in 1938, the land was not donated, but was purchased by the Calumet County Board of Supervisors and they immediately established a 7-man park commission. The land was a rough piece of wilderness. Roads had to be laid out. A plan had to be drawn to be able to get the most out of the land as it was then situated. This park was to be a place for people to picnic, fish, children to play, etc. There are now picnic tables, benches, swings, slides, boat marina, places to fish, ski run in winter (thanks to the Fox Valley Ski Club), shelters for inclement weather or sudden summer showers.

These projects took time planning and building and money to complete. Where did the time come from? Members of the board met regularly, without pay, to try to plan to give the people of the county a place to go for enjoyment. The money, 15¢ of a mill of tax monies was received by the board to extend this plan. However, when a major undertaking was contemplated, such as black-topping the roads, boat marina etc., 1-10 of a mill was earmarked for the park. Because the 1-10 was not always sufficient, money had to be saved from year to year to complete some of the projects without going in debt. A very ger to the public than a "Mad Bomber" who plants time bombs in public areas and leaves hours before the explosion and mass homicide. I do not expect, despite your newspaper, that Appleton will have a "Mad Bomber" in the near future, but I would nevertheless not be surprised if one did turn up, using bombs fashioned from a picture torn from the front page of the Post-Crescent.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Oriental predictions of the end of the world fail to come true. The fix this world's in, the Almighty wouldn't take it back.

One thing about George Romney, the new Republican hope. He may not have all the answers, but he makes people feel so good they forget the questions.

The President's brother-in-law, Steve Smith, quits government to handle Kennedy family finances. After one look at New Frontier budgets, the family decided somebody had to protect that man in the White House.

Khrushchev plans a monorail from Moscow to the airport. It's the big 20-year Soviet 3-M plan — monolithic, monorailed and monotone.

Equal time, 1952 version: Two hundred Republican speeches vs. one picture of Caroline.

Jim Pearson, new Republican Senator from Kansas, says he won't "move any worlds." He'll hardly fit in the Senate. Why, in one hour without pausing for breath, Wayne Morse can shake, rattle and roll the whole cosmos.

commendable plan. The budget for 1962 will only produce 15¢ of a mill to the park board so they are not profit-making.

Perhaps J. C. T. didn't notice while driving to said park. Calumet County is almost all agricultural — not industrial, so naturally, there are no big industries to pay big taxes. Considering the population, probably Appleton has more taxpayers than our whole county. So you can well imagine our tax coffers are not bulging. The people of this county are paying for the park and the people, at least the ones I've talked to, think the park is beautiful and they marvel at each improvement as it is made. We know the limited budget the board has to work with, and are happy with their accomplishments. Also, the board hasn't been deluged with fat money donations so they've tried to get the most for the money that is spent, and I personally think the park commission has done wonders with what they've had and they should be commended for the far-sighted thinking and planning that has been done.

Perhaps J. C. T. of Appleton came from a state that had warmer weather and could have plumbing facilities without the constant care that would be required here with below zero weather, pipes freezing, etc., and full-time maintenance of these facilities to see that rooms are kept in neat order and fixtures working. All of these things would be fine. I'm certainly not against them, but I'm positive they could not be had for the $19,000 appropriated (I'm quoting her figure) for 1961. $50,000 to $75,000 would probably cover the cost of construction of facilities that would be liked by J. C. T. These facilities would also have to be built according to state specifications, and properly maintained which in itself would be a full-time job and costly.

The convenience of these facilities would be fine, but has J. C. T. been to a Packer game at Green Bay in that nice new stadium or to a ball game in Milwaukee at that comparatively new stadium and tried to use the washroom facilities that the Americans who are so hygienic at home use? Well, if she hasn't, she's in for a rude awakening. Seems many so-called public minded citizens act like animals — wrong word — animals don't know better, people should, but don't.

These same people behave as they would never behave at home, and these public facilities look worse than pig pens, and I feel I'm insulting the farmers when I say this.

I've seen flush bowls so stuffed with paper, they overflow and flood the floors. Paper toweling strewn in all directions, tissues, bottles, candy and gum wrappers all contributing to a stinking mess. And who did it? The clean-conscious American people. And the ones who complain the loudest are usually the ones who figure someone else is paid to clean up so let's get it good and dirty so they earn their money. And if J. C. T. says this isn't true, who did it, the birds? I hardly think so. The above mentioned buildings have roofs on.

Our family tries to get to Calumet Park several times during the summer and each time there have been so many people we were "out of luck" for a fireplace or table. The slides and swings were packed with laughing children, mothers were reading lunches and fathers were playing ball and trying a few casts in the lake, and everyone was enjoying the park to the fullest. Looking Backward

New Plea for Road to Superior

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Feb. 7, 1962.

In the State of Wisconsin, on the line of the proposed Winslow road, swamp lands could not be appropriated to a better purpose, not only for the benefit of the northern portion of the State, but for the whole State, than making a grant of them to aid in the operating of this great highway to the extensive population of Lake Superior.

Let our Legislature consider carefully the advantages the State would derive by thus opening to population the vast area of rich agricultural lands which must also remain a wilderness for years.

The people of Lake Superior are urging Wisconsin to assist them in building a road to meet them and to give them an outlet for their business of at least 20,000 population.

They have secured from the Legislature of Michigan a grant of swamp lands equal to two sections for every mile of road to the Wisconsin State line. Now all that is required to effect an immediate commencement of this great thoroughfare by Mr. Winslow is for our Legislature to make a similar grant of our swamp lands on the line of the road in this State.

We have faith in the ability and energy of Mr. Winslow to prosecute this enterprise to a speedy completion, if he receives this necessary assistance. Will the Legislature grant it?

25 YEARS AGO
Thursday, Feb. 4, 1937

The Appleton Common Council restored part of the salary cuts of certain city officials in effect since 1930. The policemen and firemen were among those benefiting.

The city started strict enforcement of the ordinance making it necessary for restaurants, hotels and similar establishments to serve milk in individual bottles.

Some County Offices Should be Appointive

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — When the Democratic organization chairman in a strongly Republican district, or the Republican county corn on i the leader in a heavily Democratic section, starts the biennial search for candidates for local elective offices he must sometimes wonder why some of these minor functionaries are chosen directly by the voters.

Why not appoint the court clerk and the register of deeds and some of the other courthouse incumbents, as many of the more important public officials of local and state government are appointed?

It is a good question, and there is no really satisfactory answer for those who pose it periodically.

The reasons include the bulky process of amending the state constitution, habit, the lack of any effective campaign for reform, and the institutional interests of political parties as organizations.

The constitution written long ago provides for the direct election of the county courthouse state. Such attempts as have been made to amend the constitution have not been encouraging. There is a pervasive public indifference.

ANTI-DEMOCRATIC?

There also is the occasional critic who is suspicious of the motives of those who would substitute the appointive system, who sees in it an undemocratic desire to reduce the rights of the people to choose the men who would rule them. Of all the reasons, this is perhaps the most specious, for the public importance of scores of other public officials who are not elected is enormously greater than those clerical functionaries in the courthouses. The local superintendent of schools, the chief of police, the county highway commissioner, to name a few on the local level, or any of a score of department heads in the state service have far more capacity for good or evil than does the registrar in the county seat.

Basically the survival of the election system for county officials relates to the aggrandizement of political parties—and in Wisconsin notably the Republican party. The Republican party's long suit in Wisconsin is its possession of a majority of the courthouse positions. Their cumulative weight in a campaign for governor or congressman or whatever is great and desirable. Although the Democrats have pulled into competitive position in state elections as such, they are at a tremendous disadvantage in local campaign strength because they must default in so many districts for the courthouse offices.

The issue is illustrated in the history of the lesser but comparable question of non-partisan elections for county officials.

SELF-INTEREST

During the many years that reform groups—such as the League of Women Voters—have campaigned for non-partisan elections for what are essentially non-policy offices, three political parties of Wisconsin have held power in the state government and could have enacted such a law if they wanted to do so.

But when the Democrats were in power they imagined that they would gain the mechanical advantage in local courthouse tickets. During the long years that the Republicans were in power they realistically reckoned their accumulating assets in courthouse campaigns. Progressives, similarly, during their brief period of control, reacted in the interests of the institution, whatever the academic critics might think.

Yet to the citizen who stands a little removed from the problems of the partisans in mounting a campaign, there is something absurd about being offered a choice between a Republican and a Democratic candidate for registrar of deeds. It is like suggesting that there is a liberal and a conservative way of filing a mortgage.

Pentagon Speech Reviewer Key Figure in Controversy

Committee to Hear Lawrence's Testimony on 'Muzzling' Issue

BY WILLIAM MCGAFFIN
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — A Pentagon speech reviewer by the name of Willis D. Lawrence has suddenly become a key figure in the dispute between the U. S. Senate and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

As Lawrence takes the witness stand today, he knows that he has the full backing not only of McNamara but of the President of the United States.

Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.), judicial-mannered chairman of the Senate subcommittee that is inquiring into the alleged "muzzling of the military," will put to Lawrence the same question he refused to answer last week.

The subcommittee wants to know who, specifically, made changes in a statement Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau delivered before the conference earlier this week that he was "loathe" to invoke executive privilege. He fears that the public will misunderstand and think that he is trying to "cover up something."

President Kennedy, at his news conference Wednesday afternoon, however, declared that he would recommend that McNamara invoke Executive Privilege "if necessary."

The President also made it very plain that he supports McNamara completely in his argument that he has co-operated fully with the Senate investigators. Also, that he has reasonable grounds for refusing to divulge the identity of censors who made specific speech changes.

Same Position

"The responsibility is Secretary McNamara's," the President observed, backing the position which McNamara himself has taken with the senators. "If he is going to get honest and loyal support from those who work for him in carrying out his policies, then Secretary McNamara must accept the responsibility and he does accept it."

The President wound up with the blunt observation that he does not think McNamara or himself "can agree to a harassment of individuals who are only carrying out the policies dictated by their superiors."

The sort of "harassment" he may have had in mind was the questioning by two investigators of some of the headquarters staff of Gen. David M. Shoup, commandant of the Marine Corps.

Shoup has protested that the investigators used "Gestapo" tactics in their quiz.

Thurmond Aide

Only one of the investigators is a member of the Senate subcommittee staff. The other, Benjamin Kaplan, is on the personal staff of Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.), who is also a major general in the Army Reserve and the man who precipitated this whole affair.

Sen. Stennis declared that he was not aware of the Marine questioning incident. He also said that the quiz, given the Marines in a locked room to "test their knowledge of Communism," was not authorized by him or the subcommittee counsel.

Gen. Shoup contends that the questioning was staged to try to discredit testimony he gave before the subcommittee, which was critical of the Thurmond viewpoint. Asked if Thurmond had the right to use his own man on an expedition of this kind, subcommittee counsel James Kendall pleaded, "don't get me into that now, please."

Slain Officer Buried Today At Burlington

Admitted Slayer Denied Permission To Attend Funeral

BURLINGTON (AP) — Funeral services were held this morning at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church for Police Sgt. Anthony Eilers, who was shot to death early Monday as he grappled with an ex-criminal.

The 30-year-old police officer was shot five times with his own revolver.

Admits Slaying

Wilson Brooks, 21, of Racine, who authorities say has admitted the slaying was refused Wednesday when he asked permission to attend the officer's funeral.

the forerunner of a global system of space weather stations.

This particular shot, if successful, might help with weather forecasting for the Feb. 14 orbital flight of Marine Corps Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr.

Good Beginning

The shot looked good from the start, with a quick announcement that all three stages of the booster had fired as planned.

At a news conference later, project official Robert Gray gave the report that all looked well. He said that radio signals from the rocket indicated all three stages performed normally. He said signals were picked up from the payload by a station in Winkfield, England.

The target of the shot was an orbit path about 400 miles high. No definite conclusion as to whether orbit was achieved could be made ahead of the completion of the first 100-minute circuit.

Drum-Shaped

Shaped like a tall drum, Tiros IV is almost identical to the three earlier weather-eye satellites. The major difference is an improved lens system in one of its two television cameras to reduce distortion and provide clearer cloud pictures.

The U. S. Weather Bureau planned to make greater forecasting use of the Tiros IV pictures, funneling them to weather agencies in many nations within two or three hours after receipt.

before County Court Commissioner Oscar Edwards waived a preliminary hearing on a charge of first degree murder.

Brook, being held in the Racine County Jail without bond, appeared before Edwards the first time last Monday night, asking then for a preliminary hearing, which had been set for next Monday.

After Brook charged his mind Wednesday, Edwards ordered him to appear Friday morning before County Judge Howard Durocher for further proceedings.

Police also are holding Max Brook, 17, who was implicated in the slaying by his brother. Authorities said they would decide today whether to seek a waiver to prosecute him as an adult, or let him remain under the jurisdiction of juvenile authorities.

Time Needed to Determine Effectiveness of Sales Tax

EAU CLAIRE (AP) — It will be three months before the state knows whether the new selective sales tax will produce the expected $50 million for real estate property tax relief, Gov. Gaylord Nelson said Wednesday.

Failure of the Legislature to approve a $6 million tax on financial institutions, Nelson said, made it difficult to know immediately whether other tax sources will raise enough to permit the full income of the sales tax to be devoted to property tax relief.

The governor was questioned at a news conference as he came here to address the Northwestern Wisconsin Schoolmasters Club.

He took part in the city promotion, "Milk City, U.S.A.," which is aimed at helping reduce the dairy surplus, and made four appearances, including one on television.

Nelson said he was not campaigning and told the newsmen he saw no urgency in announcing his future plans. He has repeatedly declined to say whether he will seek another term as governor or run for the U.S. Senate.

In his date with the schoolmasters, Nelson reviewed his proposal for a three-semester program in state colleges. He said

Wadsworth Predicts Failure for Talks Over Disarmament

MADISON (AP)—Former United States ambassador to the United Nations James Wadsworth said Wednesday night next month's world disarmament conference in Geneva will never get off to a real start.

Speaking to 800 persons at a University of Wisconsin symposium, Wadsworth said of the negotiations, set to start March 14, "I'm afraid they will never get off the ground at all."

Wadsworth said "you cannot achieve a disarmament solution without including mainland China—it is utterly impossible." He added that including Red China in the talks now would be a mistake, even though it means the talks might fail.

Soviet, western and neutral nations, but not Red China, will attend the sessions.

less the Supreme Court rules otherwise, on the issue, he added. In other areas, the President had this to say:

Ultraconservatives — The John Birch Society has no place in the Republican party typified by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and other "responsible parts" of the GOP. "It is totally alien to both parties," he said.

As for the bid of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, a Birch Society member, for the Democratic nomination as governor of Texas, Kennedy said "everybody is free to run, and the people will decide, in either party."

Berlin — Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson will continue his Moscow talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, exploring for means of a Berlin settlement, "even though the so-called probes have not produced any satisfactory common ground as yet."

Steel He has been in touch with steel industry and union leaders, seeking an "earlier" agreement to replace contracts expiring June 30. Both public and private interests would be served by quick agreement, lest stockpiling against the possibility of a strike lead to unemployment later.

Space—Recent setbacks, including a moon shot miss and delay in the attempt to orbit Astronaut John H. Glenn in space, have not altered the timetable to land a man on the moon in this decade. "We are running into the difficulties which come from starting late."

U.N. Bonds—Regarding his proposal to buy $100 million of U.N. bonds, it United States does not cations where they inevitably would injure innocent people. At the home of Andre Malraux, President Charles de Gaulle's minister of Culture and longtime friend, the bomb exploded in an apartment two floors below the minister's.

Two Objectives

Documents in the hands of police show that Salan has ordered the Secret Army to pursue two objectives in France: first, to raid army stores and arms shops for weapons and ammunition to use in the final showdown; second, to make attempts on the lives of politicians, police officials and newspapermen.

These moves, Salan hopes, will divert the government's attention from Algeria, his real target. There he hopes to seize power and secede from France before de Gaulle can set up the interim government provided in the peace settlement.

The morale of Paris has not been noticeably affected by the terrorism.

The winter social season continues with daily operas, galas and charity balls. De Gaulle gave his annual reception for diplomats Wednesday night amidst the strictest security precautions ever in effect at the presidential palace. There also was the usual profusion of decorations, jewels and the latest creations of couturiers.

As one observer remarked today, the alternative to continuing life as usual is shutting oneself up at home.

Pacific Island Named as U.S. Testing Site

the atmosphere last fall after a three-year moratorium. The United States has only tested underground since the moratorium was broken. But Kennedy started preparation a month ago for atmospheric explosions.

Final Go-Ahead

He said he would not hesitate to give the final go-ahead if he determines after all studies are complete that the step is necessary to preserve the U.S. nuclear power position in the world. Other comments he made left little doubt that he feels now that U.S. security does require further testing.

At his news conference Wednesday the President in effect added a new condition for any future test ban treaty with the Soviet Union—measures to prevent secret preparations for testing. This would be in addition to measures to prevent sneak tests.

Kennedy said that in view of the "secretly prepared and massive series of 40 to 50 tests conducted by the Soviet Union last fall," final studies on resumed U.S. air tests should be completed "within the month." His decision on testing then will be made.

Pointing out that he already has initiated preparations for testing, Kennedy declared: "I shall not hesitate to order the tests themselves if it is decided that they are necessary to maintain the effective deterrent strength of the United States."

No Final Decision

He repeatedly emphasized he has not reached a final decision. But the weight of his comments indicated his trend of thinking is along the line that further U.S. testing will be shown to be necessary when studies, involving the State and Defense Departments, the Atomic Energy Commission, the Central Intelligence Agency and the White House staff, are completed.

"We are amply strong for today and tomorrow," Kennedy said, "but we must consider the future too."

At another point he spoke of the risk to the U.S. nuclear power position and the possibility of some new series of Soviet tests. The implication that Kennedy is waved to the demonstrators. Infuriated, they closed ranks across the street and kept up their chants as Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, and U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer and his Japanese-born wife spent an hour touring the mill.

Sang Anthem

On leaving Kennedy again smiled and waved as the bus pulled away. At this, the demonstrators sang the Communist Internationale.

About 150 Communists jeered as they boarded the plane for Tokyo at the Osaka Airport. Police were out in force and no demonstrator got within hundreds of yards of the Kennedy party.

Although placid in the face of demonstrators, Kennedy showed a flash of temper for the second time publicly in Japan at a luncheon given him by leading businessmen of the Kyoto area. After hearing criticism of U.S. aid policies and what some called a fumbling American foreign policy, President Kennedy's younger brother retorted heatedly.

"I just want you to understand that the United States has established quite a record in the world," he said. "We have not arrived at the vision we have today, culturally, scientifically and economically, just by luck."

"We are not without fault," Kennedy added. "But we went into World War II against our will and we do not seek now to dominate other nations. Other nations have suffered much, but many of us have suffered personally."

He cited Communist aggressions and said, "When we all sit around and analyze what is wrong with those Yankees, I hope we can consider the general picture."

stockholder could plunk all his votes on one candidate for director, instead of splitting them 12 ways as under the existing non-cumulative system.

Romney forecast that AMC would sell about 500,000 of its compact Rambler in fiscal 1965, including those sold in the domestic, foreign and military markets. AMC sold 390,325 in its fiscal year ended last Sept. 30, and Romney said 1962 domestic sales were running ahead of the record 434,704 sold in the U.S. market in the company's 1960 fiscal year.

He painted a glowing picture for Rambler's future, predicting 1962 will be a record year and saying "we expect to continue to enlarge our market position in the years immediately ahead."

"In fact," he added, "we have plans to build up to 1,000,000 cars moving steadily toward an order for air tests was borne out privately by well-informed officials.

a year as consumer demand warrants it, as we believe it will."

To exceed Rambler's current annual capacity of 600,000 cars, Romney said AMC would have to spend at least $54 million in expansion, but added it was ready for such eventuality and expects "to battle for the number one brand name position in the industry" with Chevrolet and Ford.

Emphasis to the indication that Romney likely will run for governor and likely will resign to do so was seen in his repeated emphasis that AMC's advance from a money-loser to third spot in automotive sales had been due to a management team, no one man. "The quarterback has had more credit than he deserves," Romney said of himself. "The linemen don't get much publicity."

could barely see my hands even if I raised them to my face. The lamps at the top of our helmets just did not get through this thick cloud."

Kneip said he managed to reach No. 4 gallery where the explosion occurred and found a scene of horror.

Anxious relatives and friends administered blood plasma gathered at the mine gate through the night. Wives and mothers of missing miners rushed from hospital door to hospital door in a desperate effort to find their husbands and sons. Inside, doctors brought by police cars and U.S. Army helicopters following an emergency appeal through the Red Cross.

Morning Proclaimed

The disaster came in the middle of the gay pre-Lenten carnival season traditionally observed in this part of industrial Germany. Saarland authorities proclaimed official mourning throughout the state. West Germany's second largest coal and steel center. An official funeral ceremony was set for Sunday.

The West German Trade Union Federation donated 100,000 marks ($25,000) toward a relief fund for the stricken families.

For the hard-working Voelklings it was their second mine disaster in little more than two decades—in the same Lusatian mine. Thirty men were killed in 1941 and some of the bodies were never recovered from the gallery that caved in on them.

Lusatian was modernized after World War II and won several safety awards.

The Saarland's worst previous mine disaster was in 1907 when an underground explosion killed 148 men. In Germany's worst mine catastrophe 402 men died in 1946 at Berg Kamen, in the Ruhr.

Seat Belt Credited With Saving Life

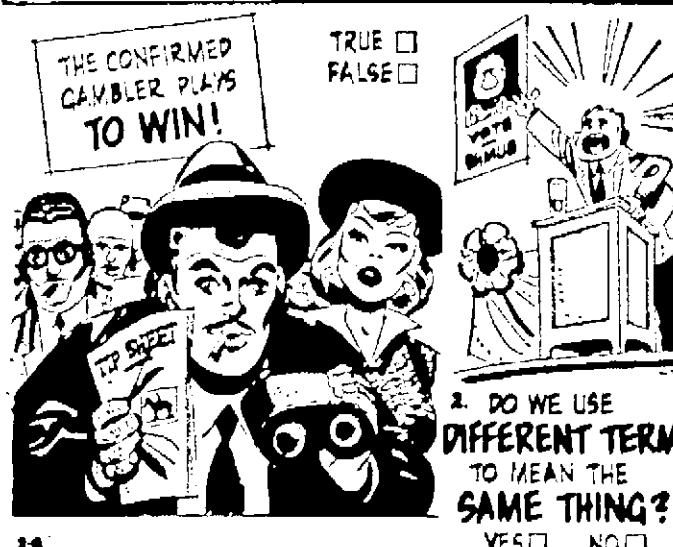

ELKHART LAKE (AP) — The seat belt in his car was credited today with saving the life of Donald Way, 21, of Green Bay.

Way's car slammed into a snow embankment on Highway 67 north of Elkhart Lake, tumbled over and skidded 100 feet on its top. Sheboygan County sheriff's deputy Myron Frank said, Way climbed, unburnt, from the wrecked vehicle.

"Without the seat belt, he might have been dead," Frank declared.

False, says a New York psychiatrist. The chronic compulsive gambler actually plays to lose. He is trying to prove that Lady Luck doesn't love him — since nobody else does either. He often has had a loveless childhood. He constantly looks for affection but doesn't really expect to find it. His gambling is a constant testing of his belief. "You don't really love me." Even when he wins, he can't believe it will last and it doesn't. So he loses, basically because he has to.

We certainly do. Notice what different words we use to describe our behavior and that of others. Other people are "stingy"; we are "economical." Others are "greedy"; we are just "far-sighted." Other people are "sneaky"; we are "clever." Others are "stubborn or mulish"; we are "strong and independent." Other people are "brazen"; we are "frank and honest." You take it from here.

Lawrence Says
Church Schools
Will Get Aid
For Buildings

Bill Provides Loans
To Both Private,
Public Colleges

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — After many months of intensive discussion, Congress has found, temporarily at least, a solution to the controversy over the constitutionality of federal aid to educational institutions operated by church groups.

Both houses of Congress have approved provisions which would permit the federal government to lend or make grants of money to private educational institutions for the construction of classrooms, libraries and laboratories, but it is stipulated that such facilities must not be used for religious instruction of any kind. The states could adopt the same formula.

This means that, to get federal aid, and college, for instance, operated by a religious body must physically separate the classes wherein religious teachings are given from those where teaching of ordinary school subjects is carried on. Certainly in the teaching of physics or any other scientific subject or in the teaching of mathematics, there is no likelihood of any religious doctrine being introduced.

Almost identical language is used in the House and Senate bills in forbidding the grant or loan of federal funds for facilities that will be used for religious instruction or worship.

Retain Feature
For all practical purposes, this prohibition now has been virtually enacted into law because the conference committee is bound to retain the general provision. Presumably, too, it would apply to whatever form of aid is voted by the conference, whether it be loans only, as voted by the Senate, or both loans and grants, as provided by the House. The President has indicated that he will sign the whole bill when it comes from the conference committee.

Thus comes to an end for the time being the controversy, on constitutional grounds, over whether the federal government can grant or lend money to a church-operated college to help provide instruction in general educational subjects when the buildings are used for that purpose only and when religious teaching is carried on in other buildings for which the federal government does not lend or give money.

Up to now, it has often been argued that the mere teaching of religion in any institution disqualifies it, because of constitutional objections, from receiving any form of direct aid from the federal government. The advocates on the other side have insisted that federal aid for general education should not be limited for legal reasons to public institutions wholly disconnected from religious teaching.

Faced Pressure
Congress has faced some political repercussions from the controversy, which has been made even more complicated by the fact that clear-cut decisions by the Supreme Court on some of these points have been lacking. It has been contended, for example, that if the Supreme Court holds that it is constitutional for the federal government to allow its funds to be used to obtain educational facilities for war veterans by giving to those members of Congress means of scholarships used in any privately operated or public college — as covered in various laws passed by Congress in recent years — there could be no logical

Byrnes Calls for End to U. S. Tariff Concessions

Cites Paper Products as Type Where Common Market Has Edge

Congressman John Byrnes Wednesday described a Kennedy Administration spending philosophy that will produce a deficit of $2 to $5 billion in the 1963 federal budget.

The Eighth District congressman told a joint gathering of Appleton's service clubs at the Conway Hotel that the United States must wipe out one-sided concessions to Common Market countries.

Underlying Kennedy's delicately balanced budget for fiscal 1963, Byrnes said, is a philosophy that pre-empt all of the gains of economic growth for increased federal spending and leaves "not one penny" for private enterprise.

Such a philosophy produced a budget for fiscal 1963 that can be balanced only by "a miracle," he said. The member of the house ways and means committee said the budget counts on $11 billion increased income from taxes which is "allocated across the board for federal expenditures."

Three Assumptions
He named three budget assumptions he felt are highly speculative. Those "ifs" were that the economy will rise steadily for the next 18 months; that "the administration has included in the budget everything it will seek to spend" and that agriculture expenditures can be cut while many farm programs are expanded.

He thought the administration's request for an $8 billion increase in borrowing to finance new spending is a better indication of anticipated spending than the budget.

Byrnes blamed continuing high taxes on the spending philosophy. "According to this philosophy, we will never have available revenue for tax reduction," he said. He called for "tax reform rather than tax juggling" or shifting of the tax load from one group to another. He wants the true tax loopholes to be closed, not the "so-called loopholes" that are business incentives intended by Congress.

New Tariff Act
"We must get back from Europe some of the one-sided concessions we have made" if we are to "live and compete with the common market," Byrnes said. He also called for a new tariff act that will protect American industry from foreign competition.

As an example of a trade agreement that is not truly reciprocal he pointed to paper products, which carry a 9.9 per cent duty when entering the U.S. and an 18 to 20 per cent duty when entering the Common Market.

A new trade act, he said, must be accompanied by fiscal, monetary and wage-cost-price policies that allow American industries to compete with foreign competitors.

Byrnes called for "a rejuvenation of the American spirit of initiative and self-reliance" and "not more government, but less."

Shiocton Couple's Son Killed in California Crash

AMBOY, Calif. (AP)—A Camp Pendleton Marine, son of a Shiocton, Wis., couple, was killed Tuesday when a truck struck his sports car on U.S. 66 near Amboy, the Camp Ornia Highway Patrol reported today.

Officers said a truck driven by a Shiocton couple, struck the car of Cpl. Ira Nelson of Camp Pendleton, from the rear. The car was knocked off the road and overturned. Nelson was thrown out and killed.

Camp Pendleton officials said Nelson is survived by his widow, Thelma, of Compton, Calif., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nelson of Shiocton, Wis.

Village Sets Charge for Snow Shoveling

Combined Locks Residents Get Two Days to Clean Walks

COMBINED LOCKS — If Combined Locks residents don't shovel their sidewalks within two days after a snowfall, it will cost them 10 cents a foot to have village employees do it.

The village board has set a penalty for not shoveling, but lengthened the enforcement limit from 24 hours to 48 hours.

A village ordinance states that the village can shovel walks and charge for it within 24 hours after a fall, but the board said the 24-hour provision would not be enforced.

Joint Contract
The board also agreed to enter into a joint contract with the Village of Kimberly to resurface and install curb and gutter along a 750-foot portion of Darboy Road that abuts both villages and to resurface portions of Kamps Court, Park and Roger streets.

The four projects together will cost Combined Locks about $36,500. Bids will be taken.

Only $30,000 was budgeted for 1962 street improvements, so the village must either improve smaller portions of the streets than it wants to or ask the contractor to accept partial payment in 1963.

The finance committee had changed the village payday from the 15th of the month to the end of the month.

A request by Kimberly Police Chief Quentin Williams that the 35 mile per hour speed limit on Darboy Road south of Kimberly in Combined Locks be changed to 25 miles an hour was approved.

The action will be submitted to the state highway department for approval.

Congress Heads For Major Test With Kennedy

Case at Point Is McNamara's Refusal
To Tell Censors

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has distinguished company in refusing to let Congress get too nosy. Presidents from Washington to Eisenhower have done the same.

Through American history presidents have reasoned this way.

The Constitution separates the powers of the three branches of government: Congress, the executive headed by the President and federal courts.

So the President can assert his executive privilege — when he thinks it's in the public interest — to refuse Congress' request for certain information from the executive branch.

Who decides what's in the public interest? The President says he does in such a case. Does he have the right to refuse? He thinks so. The third branch headed by the Supreme Court has never ruled on it.

No Showdown

Congress has never forced it to a showdown, so it has only been a test of wills so far between residents and Congress. Now Congress is heading into another test.

A Senate subcommittee investigating Pentagon censoring of speeches by the military brass has demanded that Defense Secretary Robert McNamara reveal the names of his men who censored specific speeches.

McNamara refused Wednesday. Kennedy backed him up publicly. McNamara has given the committee his censors' names and background. But he will not disclose which one of them changed what in what speech.

If he did, almost certainly the individual censors would be called before the subcommittee and extensively quizzed on why he did what he did. Kennedy didn't speak of the kind of thing as a quizzing.

Takes Responsibility

He said it would be a business of men who were not carrying out policies dictated by their superiors. McNamara says he takes full responsibility for what they did.

Kennedy said he would invoke executive privilege, if necessary, to protect the censors. He may have to. The subcommittee decided to insist on its demand.

Eisenhower ran into the same kind of trouble. He reacted the same way in 1954 when a Senate committee holding the Army-McCarthy hearings demanded information about a secret meeting of Eisenhower's top aides.

Eisenhower at the time cited several other presidents who took the same position. For Washington, to Truman. The latter had lost Congress 10 times.

Executive's Side

The messiness of our past presidents reveal that almost every one of them found it necessary to refuse Congress of his constitutional duty to execute the office of president and in furtherance of that duty to withhold information in a question to the public good.

Kennedy 19th

By the reckoning of Herman Wilentz, a law professor, attorney and a specialist in this field, at least 18 of the 41 presidents from 1789 to 1961 would be on his stand. Kennedy would be the 19th.

It could happen if the subcommittee on censorship wants a showdown.

It could cite McNamara for contempt for refusing information. If the full Senate approved them.

1. The Senate sergeant at arms could be sent to arrest the secretary and the Senate could order him kept in custody indefinitely or sentence him to jail.

2. Or, more likely, having cited him, the Senate could turn the case over to the U.S. district attorney for prosecution in the third branch of government, the federal court which has never ruled on this ancient dispute between the two other branches.

The President of course would be quickly involved in this fight on the side of McNamara and no doubt would push for the case to go to the Supreme Court in a hurry for a ruling at last.

Vienna Opera Director Resigns Amid Furor

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Conductor Herbert von Karajan has resigned as artistic director of the Vienna State Opera amidst a controversy between opera management and the government. The education ministry announced Wednesday.

Von Karajan, world-famed conductor of leading European orchestras, said in a letter to the ministry that he was dissatisfied with a recent compromise which ended two months of passive resistance by stage hands.

Sturgeon Season Will Be Launched Saturday On Lake Winnebago

Little Lakes Will Have Special 2-Day Season Feb. 17-18

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

The time of the long wait is near. Starting Saturday morning and continuing through March 1, men possessed of infinite patience will sit hunched in the gloom of small tarpaper shacks waiting—hoping to sink a spear into the back of one of the rarest fresh water fish trophies in North America—the sturgeon.

Saturday marks the opening of the spear season on Lake Winnebago. A special 2-day season on Lakes Poygan, Kegonsa, and Kegonsa will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 17 and 18.

This may be one of the strangest sturgeon spearing seasons on record. Uncertain ice conditions will see to that.

Ice Depth Varies

No matter what anyone tells you the ice on Lake Winnebago this year is not exactly what it should be. Tests made by the Wisconsin Conservation Department Feb. 1 indicate ice depths vary from 10 inches to 25 inches. The very fact that ice is in some places but unsafe in others almost certainly will limit mobility during the upcoming sturgeon season.

The department says a good thaw followed by a cold snap is the answer. If things stay the way they are it seems sure that last year's kill of 340 fish on Winnebago will not be surpassed.

Regulations generally are the same as last year. Before you fish you must purchase a special $2.50 sturgeon spearing license. A sturgeon tag is furnished with each license. The tag must be locked to the tail of the sturgeon immediately after it is speared.

You can if you wish fish for walleyes or perch while waiting for your sturgeon.

The department has voiced concern over the possibility of having a number of illegal fish speared in the little lakes. On Lake Poygan for instance the department estimates that only about 23 per cent of the fish are large enough to spear. There is

Sir Gaylord Defeats Ridan

Horsemen Say Derby Picture Now A Little Clearer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Kentucky Derby picture became a little clearer today in the wake of Sir Gaylord's triumph in Hialeah's 9-furlong Bahamas Stakes.

The Bahamas decided before a crowd of 21,941 Wednesday marked the first defeat for Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan, who had won eight straight. It convinced horsemen that Sir Gaylord, the winner and Crimson Satan, the 1961 champion 2-year-old will be better at Derby distances.

Ridan, who had never gone more than 6 1/2 furlongs before the Bahamas, ran out of steam in the stretch and Sir Gaylord sped past him to win by 2 lengths with Crimson Satan third, 3 1/2 lengths farther back.

Equal to Record

Sir Gaylord, packing the same 126 pounds as Ridan and Crimson Satan, ran the distance in 1:22, equal to the track record set by Crafty Admiral ten years ago and matched by six others since then.

Sir Gaylord was sixth at the start, moved up to fourth after the first quarter, then inched closer until he collared Ridan after they turned for home.

Sir Gaylord earned $190,410 in 14 starts last year and picked up $3,900 for a first place finish in a 6-furlong race last Jan. 30. His Bahamas win was worth $19,775 to owner Christopher T. Chenery.

Trainer J. H. (Casey) Hayes said Sir Gaylord would run next in the mile and a furlong Everglades on Feb. 21.

"He is a good horse and should go on," said Hayes, who trained First Landing, a few years ago.

Amateur King Laver Scores Easy Victory

Whitney Reed, Top U. S. Player, Wins At Indoor Tourney

NEW YORK (AP)—Red Laver, the world's amateur tennis king, said today he would like to reach two goals before he submits to tempting professional offers. "I'd like to match Don Budge's grand slam," said the bandy-legged Wimbledon champion from Australia. "And I'd like to win the first open tournament—as an amateur." "I'm going all out this year to get the first of these—that is, winning the Australian, French Wimbledon and U.S. titles all in a single season. There are some, if connected with the second one, but if we get open tennis in the next few years I think an amateur could do it."

The lightning-quick little left hander already has the first leg on his projected grand slam through his recent victory in the Australian Nationals. He will be strongly favored to repeat at Wimbledon and also add the U.S. crown at Forest Hills and the French at Paris.

Happy With Game "I'm happy with my game," Laver said. "I've dropped only two matches all season—one to Neale Fraser and one to Bob Hewitt. I don't know how I'll do in the Indoors here. I haven't played much on boards. But with a little more practice I'll be okay."

Laver made his debut in the National Indoor Tournament Wednesday breezing past Alan Fitch of New York 6-4, 6-3 in his first round play.

The red-haired Aussie said promoter Jack Kramer had talked pro turkey with him since his Australian triumph and had made some "very attractive offers."

"I told Jack I wanted to make the amateur swing at least one more time," he said. "After that, if I'm successful, I don't know what I'll do. I'd certainly like to win the first open."

Laver said the difference between the pros and amateurs no longer was so great.

"The amateurs have come up and the pro incentive is not so great now that Pancho Gonzales and Lew Hoad have virtually retired," he said.

"When they were on top the young pros always had the incentive of wanting to knock them off. Now that incentive is gone."

Whitney Reed, the top-ranking U.S. player and Davis cuppers Chuck McKinley and Donald Dell, also scored straight set victories in their first round matches of the Indoor tourney.

Midwest Conference with a 16-point average, a half point under the Vikings. Ungrodt Boya says the Pioneers have a great deal of depth.

Ken Moeller is the leading Coe point producer, averaging 13 points per game. The hawks suffered the loss of starter Jim Beckman through ineligibility at semester time.

Boya revealed that he expects zone defenses to be thrown at his boys in the weekend games.

The Vike mentor also expects some kind of pressure defense. Thus his team has been concentrating on bringing the ball up against a half court and full court press.

Coe is a very disciplined styled team, says Boya. He went on to say that the hawks "play control ball and very good defense. They capitalize on your mistakes."

Wroblewski Leads Kansas State Win

Equals Scoring Mark With 46; Duquesne, Bowling Green Lose

BY JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mike Wroblewski has taken over a starring role for Kansas State after two seasons as under study, and he's proving a resounding success in the Wildcats' drive for a fifth straight Big Eight basketball championship.

Wednesday night the 6-8 senior equaled the conference scoring record by pouring in 46 points just over half Kansas State's total in a 91-71 romp over Kansas.

While the nationally tour-ranked Wildcats were winning with ease the two other rated teams in action were being toppled. Villanova rapped sixth-ranked Duquesne 82-63 and Toledo surpassed eighth-ranked Bowling Green 70-50.

Wroblewski, a jump shooter from South Bend, Ind., moved in as a Wildcat first stringer this season after playing two varsity years in the shadow of Ced Price and compiling a 6-7 point scoring average.

His progress hit the peak with Wednesday night's performance, even though a touch of flu kept him out of pregame practice. The 46 point outburst matched the Big Eight mark set by Kansas' famed Wilt Chamberlain in 1956 and equaled by Missouri's Joe Scott last year.

Trails Buffaloes
Tex Wretts' Kansas State club trails the Colorado Buffaloes in the standings, 70 to 61.

The Wildcat will get a chance to even matters with Colorado March 1.

Hubie White, Wally Jones and Gene Lee, who alternated as center runners for Villanova as the Wildcats led Duquesne for this season, the Wildcats took charge in the second half and won by a 14 point margin.

In the opener of the doubleheader at the Pindolph Club, St. Louis Post-Dispatch, in the final 19 minutes and trimmed Gen. Wretts, D.C. 8-70.

John Green, winning the first league loss of the season on the Mid-American Conference leaders, Jones, 26 points led the Wildcats.

Loval of Colo. pushed its record to 2-2 by running off from Western Michigan, 107-79. Dr. Paul Smith led the team with 30 points.

'Turkey Bones' Funny Stunt To Play at Dinner Table

BY CAPPY DICK

"Turkey Bones" is a funny stunt to try with members of your family when you have finished the main course of a turkey dinner (or a chicken dinner). It's bound to make everyone laugh--and that's good for the digestion. Someone starts the stunt by holding up one of the turkey's bones and, pitching his voice to low "do" of the musical scale, chanting these words: "This is the wishbone of the turkey." If it has been a chicken dinner, he would chant, "This is the wishbone of the chicken." Every word must be chanted on the same note. If the bone is the leg bone, the backbone or some other bone, he refers to it correctly instead of saying "wishbone."

The person sitting to the first player's right must hold up a bone from his plate and, pitching his voice to "re," the second note of the scale, chant, "This is the leg bone of the turkey," or whatever bone he holds.

The next player picks up a bone and, pitching his voice to "mi," the third note of the scale, chants, "This is the wishbone of the turkey."

Soon the chanting will be so high it is just a squeal, producing much laughter, but each person must try his best to go higher until finally the pitch is so high nobody can possibly squeak out the words. When somebody is stumped, the game ends and everybody will be ready for dessert.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused: Do not use them in the wrong way. They were very bad answer each of the three definitions. This is illogical and conditions given. For example, if we contradictory. Say, "They are very give the three definitions, "Core, unfriendly," the one playing card, courage," the one word which will fill all three definitions is HEART. Try the following:

Often Mispronounced: Empiric (one who relies upon experience), lowering.

Pronounced chin-peer-ick, accent second syllable.

Often Misapplied: Emollient (soothing application), Emolument (fee or salary).

Synonyms: Synonymous, alike, corresponding, equivalent, identical, similar.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: Materialist; one who takes interest only in the material comforts of life. "His manner of living reveals the fact that he is a materialist in every Mean. 4. Date. 9. Train. 10. Grave, away."

New Frontier Gets Its 'Second Wind'

JFK, Aides Display Buoyancy Of the Harlem Globetrotters

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy and his lieutenants appeared last week to have gotten their second wind, displaying the buoyancy of the Harlem Globetrotters and the vigor of a piece worker in a garment factory.

In an astonishing output of messages, which combined to form a profile of the New Frontier in its second year, the White House had a word for the farmer, the man on relief, the city dweller, the hunter and picnicker, the United Nations—and, of course, the Kremlin.

Not since the Bay of Pigs episode in Cuba has the President himself seemed so sure footed and confident. It was as though he found a certain ebullience in the domestic problems which engaged him and which could be dramatized to the voters.

Neat Trick

He proposed the strictest controls of farm production in years to meet a chronic surplus while pledging to increase farm income and decrease the taxpayers' burden—a neat trick corresponding more to nirvana than reality.

To the relief client, he promised rehabilitation on the somewhat idealistic assumption that self reliance remains a powerful American virtue.

The urban resident got, as promised, the proposal for a place at the cabinet table. While this would not mean more efficient snow removal, as snidely suggested by some critics, nobody was quite sure what additional benefits an Urban Affairs and Housing Department would bring to its clients. But it is calculated to have an appeal at the polls.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York didn't like this urban scheme but his brother Laurence, as head of a commission on recreation of into the spirit of the New Frontier with a 40-year plan to preserve and expand space for the outdoorsman. A prudent man brother Laurence said he was leaving the number of acres and dollars needed to others.

The President also asked congress for a virtual vote of confidence in the United Nations with his request for authority to buy $100,000,000 worth of U.N. bonds to help the world group stave off bankruptcy.

Interest to Kremlin

The interests of the Soviet Union would be served, he said, if congress refused. But of more direct interest to the Kremlin, perhaps, was the fact stressed by the President in various ways, that America's problems stemmed more from unmanageable surpluses rather than shortages.

One pregnant line from his farm message could cause despair in a less determined man than Nikita Khrushchev who is flogging Soviet farmers with rhetoric and threats to produce more. The line: "We must learn to live with an agricultural economy of abundance rather than a scarcity."

With Khrushchev's son in law in the audience this week, the President also exploded his discovery that the U.S. strategic stockpiling program had twice the amount of minerals and other vital commodities that would be needed in any conceivable emergency today.

Embarrassed by these riches so to speak he called for an investigation.

The administration's furious pace made a comment by Atty

Gen. Robert Kennedy almost superfluous. The President's 28-year-old brother, asked why he was making his world tour that started on Thursday, said that he was asked to do so by the state department to "indicate that the United States is not, as described by the Communists, run by a tired, old government."

Two English Scientists Visit At Institute

Visitors Will Give Seminars, Meet With Students Informally

Two English scientists prominent for their work in the theory of the structure and physical properties of paper are spending this week in a series of discussions and conferences at The Institute of Paper Chemistry.

They are D. H. Page and P. A. Tydeman, principal and senior research officer respectively for the British Paper and Board Industry Research Association of Kenley, England.

Two seminars dealing generally with the nature of fiber-to-fiber bonding and new contributions to the theory of the structure and physical properties of paper are among opportunities planned by the institute for the two visitors to meet and talk with its staff and students.

Page presented a seminar on "Fiber to Fiber Bonding in Paper Sheets." Today Tydeman presents "Theory of the Shrinkage Structure and Physical Properties of Paper." The institute's thesis students and interested faculty members also had an opportunity for informal discussion with them at a session today.

Just So He Doesn't Get the Wrong Idea

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Catherine Woodruff received a message from President Kennedy Wednesday congratulating her on her 100th birthday anniversary.

Her comment: "Good Lord, I wonder if he thinks I'm a Democrat."

Staff Members at the Institute of Paper Chemistry talk with two English scientists prominent for their work in the theory of the structure and physical properties of paper who are visiting at the Institute this week. Looking at exhibits in the Institute's paper museum are, from left, W. A. Wink, chief of the IPC paper evaluation section; P. A. Tydeman and D. H. Page, senior and principal research officers respectively for the British Paper and Board Industry Research Association of Kenley, England, and Dr. C. W. Ganey, chairman of the IPC seminar committee.

47.7 Million Now Attending School

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's schools and colleges have an enrollment of 47.7 million for the current academic year, the Census Bureau estimated Wednesday.

The enrollment total covering all persons between the ages of 5 and 34, compares with 39.4 million five years ago.

The estimate was based on a survey made last October.

AHS Dean of Boys Named to Advisory Panel by College Board

Charles Cook, dean of boys at Appleton High School, has been appointed to a special advisory panel of 16 secondary school guidance officers from midwestern states by the Midwestern Regional Office of the College Entrance Examination Board.

The panel will hold its first meeting in Evanston, Ill. Friday to discuss guidance and college admissions problems.

A recurring succession of snowstorms without a general melting between has brought this new menace to the Midwest — pillars of heavy ice. This icicle formed by snow melting on a Topeka, Kan., office building and then refreezing before it could drip to the ground has been formed over four weeks time and stands three stories high and three feet through. The pillar went through a landing of a fire escape on the second floor where Jim MacFee stood, upper right.

The Great Leveler

Middle Age Is When You Remember These

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Time is a march, not a waltz.

And you've marched into middle age—or, in some cases, old age—if you can look back in your life and remember when.

The postman blew his whistle twice a day at your door and you could send a letter across the country for a cent stamp.

You and your wife could stay at a good hotel for less than a pet hospital now charges to park your cat or dog overnight.

One of the functions of a rich man's poor relative was to break in his new shoes for him.

Women going on trips always toiled along a jar of smiling suits as they never knew when they might see some strange sight that could cause them to faint.

Ah, the Food.

Nobody went on a 45 mile train journey without a basket of food big enough to feed half of starving China.

Muggers feared to attack lone ladies as they carried long hat pins sharp enough to skewer as many as rats as if he wore a piece of erent shish kebabs.

Trolley cars carried both a motorman and a conductor as no one in his right senses could expect a man to collect fares and drive a dangerous vehicle at the same time.

Every home had two social centers—the kitchen and the front porch.

The national drink was near beer, and the national wisecrack was "Whoever named it near beer was a poor judge of distance."

The height of sophisticated te parties was to shake your head and exclaim: "Boy, that's the cat's pajamas."

Real Tub

The wealthiest man in town was the one who had a two-buggy stable—and a bathroom with a real tub.

Only young daredevils ventured out in cold weather without a pair of spats.

The greatest event of the winter social season in rural areas was the arrival of the mail order catalogues.

One of the great joys of child

Hemingway's Widow Finds Storeroom Filled With Mementos

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Mary Hemingway, widow of author Ernest Hemingway, has been examining a storeroom of mementos he cached with a fishing crony in a barroom nearly 30 years ago.

So far, Mrs. Hemingway has turned up parts of manuscripts including "To Have and Have Not" (which he wrote in Key West), photographs of fishing home, but any woman who trips in the Atlantic Ocean and smoked a cigarette in the press Caribbean Sea letters, telegrams, and printer's proofs of stories.

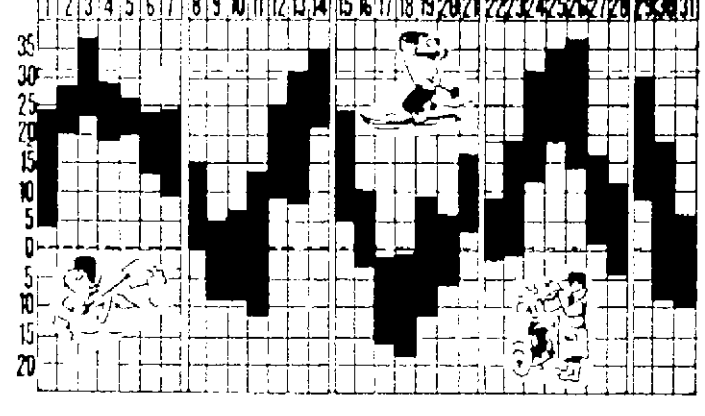

The items were stored in the rear of S'oppy Joe's Bar. The bar free piece of china everytime you was owned by the late Joe Russell. Hemingway's fishing crony.

The best behaved kids in the neighborhood were those whose late attorney will decide what to do with the papers and other items.

U. S. Can Lose Africa By Not Aiding Students

Soviets Pay Expenses for Ambitious Africans at Russian Universities

BY GEORGE WILLER
Chicago Daily News Service

ALMA ATA, Kazakhstan — By not spending $350 at the right moment, the West can lose Africa to the Soviets, one student at a time.

Paul, an eager would-be doctor from Kenya, is a case history.

Paul, light mahogany in color, with split front teeth, a mile-wide smile and the sharpest shoes and speediest suits ever seen in Central Asia. Though living now off the Soviet taxpayer, he still is overwhelmingly friendly with every Westerner.

"Me, I'm Tee-Too tribe," he says, whanging you on the shoulder. "Only Tee-Too man in Russia. Four years more, I'll be medical practitioner—almost like doctor. My dream: be practitioner."

Four Africans

"Wanted be American doctor, but little money. Need $350. No got. So—" a happy shrug—"thank you, Tovarish."

"Soviet medicine all right too. Good enough for Tee-Too."

Paul is the Kenyan among four Africans—from Cameroon, Sierra Leone and Ghana—who are having a ball at Ivan's expense.

They study at Patric Lumumba Friendship University, Moscow's all-expense-paid college for students named by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in honor of the Congolese "Martyr."

Traveling, they live on the level for which tourists pay $25 a day. Except for the Ghanaian, who enjoys playing native, they wear narrow-lapelled jackets in Ivy League charcoal, white silk ties and stockbrokers' shoes. In each town they are guided by party comrades from Komsomol, the Communist youth organization, self-consciously plebeian in sweaters, block-toed sports shoes and open-throated shirts.

The Soviets pay the Africans roughly $75 a month salary at "Lumumba." On tour, every night is champagne night—on the house. The Africans keep their heads clear, play it gay and undialectical, and reward their entranced hosts with happy antics. Paul grabs a guitar and belts out a song under the light of the mountain stars:

"Any time you wanna see Moscow town, Moscow town, See a Tee-Too in Moscow town!"

Come right along to Moscow town!

Any time you wanna see Tee-Too — Come on down to Moscow town!

Three years ago Paul left his tribe, up near the Somali border, "crazy to learn medicine." He had no capital.

"So first I work year and a half on Mombasa docks."

He knew that Jomo Kenyatta, his national leader, had escaped "the colonial atmosphere" by studying in London. But London was far away, and Paul was in a hurry. He wanted a partial fellowship in Ethiopia, just next door to the north.

During his year in Addis Ababa, he approached the American embassy.

"Americans say, 'yes, can give you fellowship to Johannes Smith University. That's in Charlotte, N.C. Got $350 to get there?'"

"I say, 'no, my money from Mombasa docks all gone in Ethiopia. Can't find $350."

"Too bad, friend," say Americans.

"But never mind. Welcome, Tovarish!" say Soviets.

The Soviets were eager to pay everything for Paul: air fare, tuition, books, food and salary to keep Paul well dressed. Gratefully, Paul sings.

"Any time you wanna see a Tee-Too, Come right along to Moscow town! Moscow town, Moscow town, See a Tee-Too in Moscow town!"

Messages Sweet From The Kitchen Fit Into Party Theme For Valentine's Day

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

Hearts and flowers in romantic mood take over for Valentine's Day . . . the one day in the year when sentiment is the fashion. There are all sorts of Valentine cards available to send to loved ones . . . but no message can be sweeter than one from the kitchen . . . a beautiful concoction that turns a family dinner into a party . . . or serves as the dessert centerpiece for a Valentine bridge, buffet or afternoon tea.

Youngsters from kindergarten set to teens will take to a Valentine party . . . no husband could resist a special dessert Valentine made just for him . . . and there's no better way to win friends and influence favorite people than with a heart-shaped box brimful of homemade candy.

All it takes is a bit of planning built around one special surprise recipe. Decorations for party tables may vary according to the event. Young children enjoy an overdecorated table that keeps up the Valentine theme from nutcup full of heart candies to dessert . . . a Valentine bridge or tea can be pretty with fresh flowers and tall candles making tables elegant. All a family dinner takes is the dessert surprise itself with the rest of the menu as usual.

Whatever the plans, here are a few wonderful recipes to latch on to for a Happy Valentine's Day.

Peppermint Pink Valentine Mold

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup sugar, divided
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup crushed peppermint stick candy
red food coloring

Mix gelatin, one-fourth cup of the sugar and salt in a saucepan. Beat together egg yolks and milk; add to gelatin mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, about five minutes.

Remove from heat; add crushed peppermint stick candy. Tint with a few drops of coloring to get shade desired. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually add remaining fourth-cup of sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture. Fold in whipped cream.

Turn into a 5-cup heart-shaped mold; chill until firm. Unmold. If desired, garnish with additional whipped cream. This recipe serves six, but it may be doubled with no trouble.

Queen of Hearts Tarts

baked tart shells
5 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup sifted flour
2 cups boiling milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon vanilla
2 tablespoons kirsch
1/2 cup ground filberts
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups maraschino cherries, quartered
currant glaze

In recipe above, about 60 maraschino cherries make two cups. Beat egg yolks until frothy. Gradually add sugar; continue beating until mixture very thick and pale yellow. Beat in sifted flour. Gradually add boiling milk, beating constantly until smooth one-fourth inch thick on lightly and well blended. Place over floured board or pastry cloth.

boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Using 24 heart-shaped individual tart shells, line each tart pan with paste. Remove from heat; add try by pressing dough firmly butter, vanilla, kirsch, filberts, against sides. Prick with a fork in several places along bottom.

After cooled, pour into baked and sides of pastry. tart shells. Arrange quartered. Fill each tart pan with dried maraschino cherries over top of beans or raw rice to prevent custard. Brush with warm Currant Glaze. Place on cookie sheet.

For variation, maraschino cherries may be used on unbrowned. Remove beans or rice, some of the tarts. These are from pastry when baked, place halved and placed on top of custard tart pans with pastry on cooling rack. Glaze if desired, by dipping. The tarts filled with custard

There's Absolutely no one who'll fail to be delighted over this pink meringue confection heaped high with whipped chocolate cream. It's a melt-in-the-mouth sort of dessert with elegant looks. The recipe also is a surprise with its use of gelatin.

ping cherries into half the Currant Glaze.

Tart Shells

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup soft butter or margarine
3 to 4 tablespoons ice water

Sift together flour, sugar and salt; using pastry blender or two forks, cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse meal. Gradually add ice water, mixing quickly with a fork until mixture forms a soft dough. The amount may vary.

Shape dough into a ball and flour. Gradually add boiling milk, beating constantly until smooth one-fourth inch thick on lightly and well blended. Place over floured board or pastry cloth.

These Miniature Pastry shells filled with filbert custard and currant glazed maraschino cherries richly deserve the name of Queen of Hearts Tarts. Heart-shaped pans are not necessary, but they add to the glamor of the dessert and are available in foil.

Most of Us Have stashed away somewhere a very special heart-shaped candy box, red satin covered and bow bedecked . . . or purchase a few new ones in which to pack some homemade candy as special valentines. To make the box pretty inside, plan at least two kinds of candy with color contrast. Valentine Crunch, toffee-good underneath and chocolate on top, is easy to make and exceedingly good. A shade lighter is Creamy peneuche, bound to be favorite with everyone.

Every Bit As Pretty as an old-fashioned, romantic valentine is this Peppermint Pink heart dessert that symbolizes the sentiments of the day. It comes to the table, pink and white with a deliciously crunchy texture, as a suitable finale for any party. Because the mold is made with reliable unflavored gelatin, it requires only five minutes of cooking . . . the time it takes to dissolve the gelatin. Then it simply is chilled until firm.

Old Traditions Valentine's Day Celebrated as Pre-Lenten Festival in Spain

Europeans consider the American custom of giving hearts and flowers too tame a way to commemorate St. Valentine's Day. European celebrations of the day devoted to lovers — which are linked to pre-Lenten festivals — range from wild flamenco dancing and sherry drinking in Spain, to the old superstition of dreaming on bay leaves in England.

In Spain, young men pool their money to hire a flamenco guitarist, dancer and professional clapper and invite their fiancées and sweethearts to a St. Valentine's party which is one of a series of parties that precede Lent.

The traditions of the flamenco party are old and are strictly adhered to by the Spaniards with one exception. The American habit of drinking sherry on the rocks is now being favored over the former custom of serving this wine — the drink of Spain for 2,500 years — chilled. However, the food follows a traditional pattern, although there is also great variety. The flamenco feast is almonds, shrimp, salami, sausage, olives and cheese.

Although the Spaniards never send Valentines like Americans, in the South they will have delivered to their sweetheart's home a bottle of sherry which has had the reputation of being a drink of love for centuries.

In the southern province of Andalusia, a young man and woman will participate in the Pelar la Pava, or plucking turkey. Actually, no turkeys are involved. The young man stands below a girl's grilled window and makes proposals. If she accepts, she tosses a flower through the grill-work.

In Barcelona, young couples have their el Entierro de la Sardina or the burial of the sardines. This custom has nothing to do with sardines. It is a name given to picnics which begin in the afternoon and end in the middle of the night.

St. Valentine's Day began in Europe during the pre-Christian era when Roman boys drew lots for girls during the festival honoring the goddess Februa. Juno, and the pagan traditions have clung on despite the changing of the day's name to that of a Christian saint.

English Traditions In old England, a young girl on St. Valentine's Eve pinned four bay leaves to the corners of her pillow and one in the center. If, during the night, she dreamed of her lover, they would be married within a year. To make doubly sure of success, the girl would boil an egg, replace the yoke with salt and eat it, shell and all, before going to sleep.

For those without lovers, the names of eligible young men were written on paper and then rolled in clay. These pellets then were dropped into water and the name that bobbed to the surface first was the young girl's Valentine.

Northern Europeans also believed that if they dreamed of a hen cackling, they would have success in love.

Couple Plans To Marry in May Rites Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Wichmann, 153 Wright Ave., Neenah, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Janice, to Richard Helein. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Helein, 521 W. Winnebago St., Appleton.

The couple was graduated from Appleton High School. Miss Wichmann is employed at Kimberly-Clark Corp., Neenah. Her fiancé is employed at Central Wisconsin Motor Transport Co., Appleton. A May wedding is planned.

Bobbye Mueller Hartzheim's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hartzheim, 1615 N. Owaissa St.

Miss Mueller is a senior at Appleton High School. Her fiancé is employed at Overly's, Inc., Neenah. A wedding date has not been set.

German February Sales Keep Women in Frenzy

Chicago Daily News Service
 BY JUDY BARDEN
 BONN—Remember the story of the experimental pig? Every day for a week he was given seven troughs, each containing different food. Running from one to the other in a fever of indecision, he eventually had a nervous breakdown. Well, that is how I feel about the February sales here.

German newspapers had been telling women that the sales would be tremendous and the cuts in price genuine, but I do not think any of us were prepared for such drastic cuts on such wearable clothes.

Last year I admired and wanted a tomato-red lastex apron ensemble. This was beautifully made, with zipper pockets and a wide belt with the new oval buckle. It cost $45. As I cannot have it. I decided against it. Now I have it. In the sale it cost $22. A black and silver lurex blouse which I bought for a Christmas present and which cost $17 is priced at $8 in the sale.

Exquisite woollen suits fully lined with silk in glorious shades of pastel pink, sky blue and apple green, cost $30. Last year they were $60 and, judging by the latest Paris fashion news, these suits are still chic.

Hats and shoes, which in my opinion have always been Germany's weakest points, are a quarter of their former price.

I asked the manager of a large store if some of his items were not being sold at a loss. He replied, "Yes, particularly clothes, but last year the sales were a flop. We learned that our customers did not want cheap goods but good goods."

He added, "There is a lot of money about these days with both husband and wife working and the wives want to look smart at their jobs. They cannot be palmed off with anything just because it is cheap."

Wisconsin's New Sales Tax provided the theme for the Merrymakers Dance Club 'Sales Tax Shuffle' Saturday evening at Germania Hall, Menasha. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bretl, Appleton, were chairmen, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Kuchenbecker, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bork, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fullerton, Appleton, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Erb, Menasha. Above, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foster, Neenah, club presidents, collect dance fees from Florian Hoelzel, Menasha. Mrs. Hoelzel does her share by supplying the tax pennies.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

GLOVES AT DINNER PARTY

I am giving a birthday party for my husband at our country club. Invitations were engraved and I will be a black tie affair. Dinner will be followed by dancing. Should I wear my long kid gloves all evening? If not, when do I remove them? I have noticed some women wearing their gloves throughout an entire party. I want to be right.

Louise Davis Answers:
 I think that it is ridiculous to wear gloves from beginning to end especially for this type of party. Your affair involves a dinner. It isn't an ultra formal ball or sitting in a box at a performance of the Metropolitan Opera, or attending a late and ultra fashionable wedding reception. If your long gloves appear to enhance and complete your evening ensemble, you could wear them if you wish while greeting your guests as they arrive. Without even thinking, I am sure you would remove them while handling your pre-dinner appetizers. They'd stay off for dinner, so why not leave them off for your own comfort and to spare your gloves from complete ruin?

BABY NAMED CORRECTLY
 My husband's name is, for example, William Edward Smith. We named our son William Edward Smith, Junior. My husband's father's name is William John Smith. Several members of the family keep telling us that our baby should be William Edward Smith III. I want to get this straight.

Louise Davis Answers:
 You are correct. The baby is William Edward Smith, Junior. To be the third, his grandfather would also have to be William Edward Smith and he isn't.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Your Public

Every woman has an audience. It is not only the great and near-great who are in the public eye. The rest of us girls are subject to quite as much scrutiny as the famous personality. Moreover, we are viewed at closer range and by people who are meaningful to us — husbands, beaux, children, teachers, bosses, co-workers, friends and neighbors. Not to mention the butcher and the baker.

How well we measure up to observation is a moot question. Witness the housewife at market, with her hair in rollers or looking as though it had not been combed for days. Or how about the teen, plodding her way to school in a hodgepodge of rumpled clothes?

The career girl may go to the other extreme — dress and pile on make-up more suited to a masquerade ball than a workday. In any case, it is a puzzlement why any woman ever presents a third-rate picture to her world.

In the act she surely does herself an injustice. She also offends those around her, both their eyes and egos. Perhaps there is no greater affront to another's feelings than to look or act as if you didn't give a fig for his or her, good opinion.

Since smoothing rather than ruffling feathers is one of woman's most important roles, it really behooves the feminine contingent to be appropriately dressed and neatly groomed. An attractive appearance is a daily duty, not a Saturday night conceit.

mixture into whipped cream.
Pour into baked meringues. Garnish with Valentine decorations such as a strawberry or candy hearts. Recipe makes from six to eight servings.

Creamy Pudding
1/2 cup margarine
2 cups packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts
Melt two tablespoons margarine in heavy saucepan. Add milk and sugar; combine well. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until candy thermometer registers 235 degrees or until drop of syrup forms a soft ball in cold water. Remove from heat. Add remaining margarine, but do not stir. Cool without stirring until outside of saucepan feels lukewarm. Add vanilla and nuts. Beat until mixture loses its gloss and a small amount dropped from a spoon holds its shape. Pour into square pan that has been rubbed with margarine. Cool and cut into squares.

Valentine Crunch
1/2 cup margarine
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
1 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup coconut (optional)
1/2 teaspoon rum extract
1 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
Melt margarine in a heavy saucepan. Add sugar and combine well. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is well blended and begins to bubble. Add water and corn syrup and mix well. Continue cooking frequently until candy thermometer reaches 230 degrees or until a drop in cold water cracks or is brittle. Remove from heat. Stir in nuts, coconut and rum extract. Pour out onto a cookie sheet. Cool to room temperature. Melt chocolate pieces over boiling water. Spread evenly over candy and set aside until firm. When firm, break into pieces.

Decorating a White Frosted, double decker cake such as this is an easy matter by using red decorating icings and gels in tubes. Decorating sets are available in Fox Cities stores and the sets include inexpensive tube tips that make hearts, flowers, love birds, borders and all sorts of pretty designs. Full instructions on how to decorate are spelled out on each tube.

Your Problems

Mother Despairs at Inability To Teach Son Responsibility

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son is 11 years old and I just returned from a conference with his seventh grade teacher. All my life I've had conferences with his teachers. Every one of his teachers has told me that the boy has not been trained to concentrate, that he daydreams, and that we have failed to teach him the meaning of responsibility. I'm beginning to think we haven't taught him anything. My husband and I apparently made every mistake in the book with this child.

Landers

Often I've wished there was a school for parents. So many of us need to know how to bring up our children. I feel like a failure and I don't know what to do about it. Many people have told me we've spoiled our boy, yet nobody tells me what we should do about it. Can you? — D. P. T.

DEAR D. P. T.: There's hope for you, Mother. At least you aren't blaming the teachers.

Parents who feel inadequate should get outside help. There are child guidance clinics, specialists who deal with problem children, and a great deal of useful literature.

The school principal can direct you in each of these areas. By all means ask! Don't allow your unmotivated, day-dreaming son to shift aimlessly from bad to worse. And take heart — the admission of ignorance is the first step toward wisdom.

DEAR ANN: A friend of mine told me that you were once in jail. He said he saw you there. Is this true or false? Please answer in the paper. Your readers are entitled to know. — Corky

Dear Corky: Your friend is right. I was in jail in February 1950. I spoke to the inmates of the Cook County jail and am delighted to report it was one of the most attentive audiences I've ever had. Not a soul walked out.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That letter from Mrs. H. (I'd read my eye-balls. She said (and I quote), "He wanted a divorce so I made him pay through the nose."

America is the only place in the world where females get away with this sort of armed robbery. If a woman tied her victim with ropes, put a gun to his head and made him sign over all his worldly goods, she'd be put in prison in most countries. Not in America. Here they call it "settlement and alimony."

My husband and I realized after three years of marriage that it was a mistake. We had two small children. I could have put him through the financial meat-grinder because he wanted out more than I did (another woman). But I'm not the grubby, vindictive type.

I had a small income from my father's estate and a good job. I knew I could manage with no settlement and a modest support check. We parted without bitter-

Lid Lifting Trick During Cooking Aids Vegetables

Lifting the lid of the saucepan several times while green vegetables are cooking helps preserve their green color.

Don't let milk stand around in a warm kitchen when you take it out at baking time. Keep it refrigerated after pouring out the amount you need for a recipe.

Some good cooks like to add two tablespoons of light cream for each egg when scrambled eggs are on the menu.

A creamy tomato sauce makes the most fabulous shore dinner taster.

Saute one quarter cup minced onion and two tablespoons mined green pepper about five minutes in one tablespoon melted butter. Add one cup boiling water and one package tomato-vegetable soup mix, or other similar soup mix.

Cover and let stand at least 15 minutes. Stir in one and one-half cups dairy sour cream.

Serve over baked fish, halibut, swordfish, flounder or cod—or over fried fish such as file of sole, fish bites, codfish cakes or haddock.

Creamy Tomato Sauce may be prepared ahead, with the exception of adding the sour cream. Just before serving, stir in sour cream and heat, but do not boil.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Miller, D.V.M.

Q. My dog lives in a dog house in the back yard. He gets up at 4 a.m. and jumps the fence. Could you tell me how to stop this? Martha Kuntler, Columbus, Ohio.

A. Getting up at 4 o'clock in the morning to catch a dog may be good exercise, but I'm sure you would rather take your morning walk at a more reasonable hour. It would be better if your dog were more of a homebody. If he just gets up to jump the fence and doesn't annoy anyone, make your fence higher or tie the dog up overnight. There is nothing cruel about chaining a dog at night because all he is supposed to do is sleep. I wouldn't lock the dog house door as he might suffocate inside. If he is noisy at that hour it may be necessary to quiet him or, in an extreme case, give him a sedative before retiring for the night.

(Dr. Miller will send books on pet care to readers submitting best questions. Mail yours on a postcard in care of this paper.)

Make Meringues Easiest Way

BY MARY BETH KUESTER
Home Economist
Wisconsin-Milwaukee Press Co.

You save time and energy when you let your mixer help you make a wide variety of glamorous meringue desserts.

Whether you are making a conventional meringue to piping for a cream pie or trying new recipes for fruit-flavored meringues or little meringue cookies, Miss Kuester has here a few hints to give products that bring compliments to the cook.

Miss Kuester has here a few hints to give products that bring compliments to the cook.

1. Make sure beaters of your electric mixer are free of fat.
2. Choose right size bowl! Use the small mixer bowl for a one to three egg white meringue. For larger quantities use the large bowl to be sure of adequate beating action.
3. Start beating at moderately low speed adding sugar gradually. Finish at moderately high speed.
4. Use fresh egg whites at room temperature to assure maximum volume.

Fruit-flavored meringues are well liked for their light texture, bright colors and delicious, fresh flavor. These unbaked meringues are spread over chilled cream pies. You then keep pies in your refrigerator until dessert time.

For something different, try the following recipes. If you don't use your mixer to beat it the next day. The prepared pudding and strawberry meringue in next recipe is enough for both pie and pudding desserts for two days.

Strawberry Meringue Pie
8-inch cooled, baked pie shell
2 packages vanilla pudding-pie filling
4 cups milk
1 egg white
1/4 cup frozen strawberries and juice, thawed
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
pinch of salt

Prepare vanilla pudding with milk according to package directions. Pour three cups cooked filling into pie shell. Cool then chill. Put remainder of filling into small bowl to use later for pudding.

Combine remaining ingredients in mixer bowl. Turn mixer to moderately high speed and beat three to five minutes, or until the meringue stands in moderately stiff peaks that bend only slightly at the tips. (This mixture tends to splatter during beating, so hold a cloth loosely around the bowl) being very careful not to get it near the beaters.

Spread about four and one-half cups of the fluffy meringue over the top of the chilled pie. Keep pie refrigerated until ready for use. Use remaining meringue for pudding.

Strawberry Meringue Pudding
Alternate layers of the remaining pie filling and strawberry meringue in sherbet dishes or parfait glasses, and refrigerate for dessert the following day.

Hard Meringues
To make a hard meringue, the ratio of sugar to egg white is about double that used for soft meringues. Your electric mixer really saves your energy during the 10 to 15-minute beating time. This longer beating time allows sugar to dissolve. It develops a stiff but still spreadable consistency in unbaked mixtures.

Baking is done at low temperature to dry out the mixture. The finished product should have a crisp outer crust and soft inside.

Hard meringues usually are baked as shells and filled with ice cream, fruit or cream filling. There also are cookies that can be made from it.

Brownie Caps
Brownie Caps are whimsical little meringue cookies with a delicious, praline-like flavor. You won't regret trying them.

2 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
pinch of salt
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup light brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup finely chopped pecans

Beat egg whites until foamy on

When Meat's Off Your Menu, put Mozzarella cheese on it. Borrow from the Italians and serve a lasagna filled with Mozzarella's energy-building protein. This lasagna, easily prepared, makes an excellent recipe for the coming Lenten season. Serve it with bread sticks and a green salad.

moderately low speed. Add cream of tartar and salt and beat to distribute evenly. Turn mixer to moderately high speed. Add granulated sugar gradually, one tablespoon at a time, beating well after each addition. Add brown sugar in same manner. Continue beating to very stiff peak stage. Stop beater to check for peaks. The mixture will be stiff with a satiny surface, but because of the high ratio of sugar to egg white will feel a little grainy to the touch. Add vanilla and nuts and blend in at low speed.

Cover a cookie sheet with aluminum foil or brown paper. With a pastry bag and tube shape meringue into peaked caps. Bake in 275-degree oven 40 minutes. Turn off heat, leave meringue in oven 15 minutes longer to cool and set. Remove from oven, cool thoroughly, then peel foil or paper away.

Chocolate Topping
Grate three squares semi-sweet chocolate and melt over hot but not boiling water, stirring continually while melting. Remove from water, cool and stir to dipping consistency (84 degrees F). Dip peaks of cookies into chocolate.

These cold dry winter days are ideal for meringue making. So assemble the few simple ingredients and set your mixer to work on a special treat for your family.

Hearty Flavor Lasagna Recipe Stars Mozzarella Cheese

Mozzarella's one of those gloriously easy, it's a breeze to use in our cheeses that make friends with everyone. It has a light but hearty flavor and these days it usually comes to you vacuum packaged to lock in its goodness and flavor.

Because Mozzarella melts so easily, it's a breeze to use in Here's one particularly scrumptious hot dish that takes only about half an hour cooking time and just a few short minutes to put together. It's an excellent recipe to file for the Lenten season ahead.

- Lasagna
- 1 10-oz. pkg. lasagna or wide noodles
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 1/2 cup cooking oil
 - 1 cup tomato puree
 - 1/2 cup water
 - 1/2 teaspoon thyme
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 2 cups shrimp or lobster meat
 - 1 pound Mozzarella cheese
 - 1/2 cup grated Parmesan Cheese
- Cook noodles in rapidly boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Sauté onion in oil until tender. Stir in puree, water and seasonings. Simmer about one hour. In bottom of large shallow baking dish place a layer of noodles, add a layer of shell fish cover with sauce and top with slices of Mozzarella cheese and a sprinkling of Parmesan. Repeat layers to fill dish. Bake at 350 degrees about 30 minutes until hot and bubbly. Recipe serves eight.

The Ailing House Steam May Raise Dents In Floor

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

A careless "handyman" in helping me to locate some heavy living room furniture got some long dents in the floor. Is there any way to repair them?

A. First fill the dents with matching plastic wood or wood filler (and finish to match rest of floor) or putty like material available in wide assortment of popular wood finishes at plywood and hardware dealers.

Or let heat and dampness permeate the wood so that the wood fibers crushed down return to approximately their original level. Apply steam from a steam iron or hold a well-dampened cloth over the dent and apply heat with an iron. Frequently this treatment raises the compressed fibers in the dent enough to make the damage practically invisible.

Q. A cigarette was accidentally dropped on my foyer rug, charring it slightly and leaving a discolored spot. How can this discoloration be removed?

A. If the tips of the rug fibers only were charred, carefully snip them off with a manicure scissors. If the charring is rather deep, the damaged area will have to be replaced. This should be done by a professional.

Brief of Road Department to Be Answered

Attorney for Contractors Will File Reply Soon

WAUPACA — The attorney for the contractors attempting to prevent the Waupaca County Highway Department from doing private work has announced that he will file a reply brief.

Attorney John E. Esler, Kaukauna, representing the contractors in the suit against the highway department filed a brief with Circuit Judge Michael Sullivan, Milwaukee.

Edward R. Macklin, acting district attorney representing Waupaca County and Fred Grunwald, county highway commissioner, in the action Esler's new brief is in answer to Macklin's.

Judge Sullivan announced at the close of the Circuit Court hearing here in December that the court will decide on three issues. If any unlawful activity on the part of the defendant or defendant has been committed if an injunction should be issued and who the injunction is to be issued against.

The court had previously dismissed a contempt of court action started by the contractors in Waupaca county.

Esler, former county board chairman, Earl Christensen, Alvin Hendrich, J. F. Sampson and Eugene Bradt, members of the highway committee, are being represented by Attorney Richard E. Johnson.

Cast members include Pamela Smith, Judy Doerfler, Mary Jagdfeld, Kathy Kraus, Carol Knuppel, Pat Hein, Donna Kane, Shelli, Theresa Miller, Sheron Hodges, Bonnie Buckinger, Michael Jacklin, Walter Wochos and Thomas Schaefer.

Prompter for the play is Donna Eastman. Pat Probst is in charge of sound effects and properties. James Bach of lighting, and Donna Eastman of publicity.

The play by John Rand deals with Broadway and the theater.

Stock Market Resumes Climb

Rally Goes Into Eighth Day With Trading Active

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market resumed its climb despite further resistance, bounding the rally into its eighth straight session with trading active early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 20 at 241.50 with industrials up 20 ticks off 20 and utilities up 20.

Gains of fractions to about a point outnumbered losers in the same range, but the upside margin was slender.

Mostly Higher
Steels, rubbers, oils, electrical equipments and utilities were mostly higher. Rails eased a bit. Chemicals and autos were mixed. Aerospace issues were unchanged to a little higher.

The flashiest piece of corporate news was Heshyev Chemical's proposal for a 5-for-1 stock split and dividend boost. Delivered by an influx of buy orders, the stock rose 15 1/4 points to 197 1/4 on a delayed opening, then it slid about 4 points from the top.

Union Carbide added more than a point. American Telephone made a similar gain.

Some of the airlines improved. Pan American gained about a point and American Airlines United was down about a point.

Small gains were made by U.S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Alloy, Chemical New York Central, American Smelting and Phelps Dodge.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 37 at 716.10.

Prices moved generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were unchanged to slightly higher.

ASC Sets Dates for Feed Grain Sign-Ups

OSHKOSH — Feed grain sign-ups will be held in the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office at 1907 N. on S. at 76 one-half mile west of Mun. St. from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Ben Creek. The deadline for sign-ups was March 30. Thomas C. Webster, attempting to pass the Young car office manager, announced to what it went out of control on day.

Specific sign-up days have been set for each town this month while those not signing up at that time may sign anytime during March.

Dates for towns in the north: Wolf River on Monday, Feb. 19; Poysin on Tuesday, Feb. 20; Winchester on Wednesday, Feb. 21; Neenah and Menasha towns on Thursday, Feb. 22; Clayton on Friday, Feb. 23; Vinland on Monday, Feb. 26.

Regulations are similar to those of last year and one-half time, four or six years instead of the four or six year re-enlistment previously required.

Intention to re-enlist must be signed.

Fire Losses Show Increase

Damage Reported in Little Chute Nearly Tripled

LITTLE CHUTE — Total fire loss for 1961 reported by insurance companies to Lester Sanders, fire chief, amounted to $14,708.94, compared to $5,031.85 in 1960, according to the annual report released by Sanders Wednesday.

Total loss in fires attended by the fire department was listed at $12,362.80 for 1961 and $4,621.79 for 1960. The department attended 40 fires in 1961 compared to 35 in 1960. It was not called for 45 reported fire claims in 1961, compared to 37 in 1960.

The report shows volunteer fire men spent 535 man hours at fires compared to 247 in 1960, had 597 man hours at meetings, compared to 565 the previous year, and had 148 man hours of drills compared to 98 the previous year.

Individual Runs
Firemen made four runs to the Town of Vanden Broek, compared to nine in 1960. Made 12 local residential calls compared to seven the previous year, had three car fires compared to six in 1960. Had 10 grass fires compared to two the previous year, had one dump fire compared to three in 1960 and had four commercial fires compared to none in 1960.

The department reported one false alarm in each of the last two years and the rescue truck was called for first aid work on six occasions in 1961 compared to five in 1960.

Association at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the school auditorium.

The play is under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Van Susteren.

Needed Doctors Do Surgery in Red Helicopters

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — The Russians, says the Department of Commerce, have built operating rooms in helicopters, so that teams of Soviet surgeons can fly to remote places having no hospitals and perform needed operations. They are used specially for places which ordinary transportation does not reach.

The MI-4 operating room-transport helicopter carries a medical team of surgeon, operating room nurse and practical nurse.

The latter is usually a midwife. There is also an anesthetist along, and 230 pieces of equipment stowed away in 16 portable packs.

The Soviet Public Health Bulletin translated and made available by the U.S. Department of Commerce, said the helicopter hospital had its first field test in 1959 when three surgeons went to a faraway Siberian region and performed an operation on a woman in the cabin of the craft. The temperature outside was 35 to 40 degrees below zero.

by the state in lieu of a knowledge test if students apply for an instructional permit within one year. David Gansner, instructor, acquainted students with the rules of the road and good driving practices. Much time was spent on evaluating the physical, mental and emotional qualifications of drivers and understanding the application of these factors in safer driving, the principal indicated.

Larson concluded, "The most important objectives of a driver education course is to help young people become better citizens through acquisition of knowledge and improved attitudes in relation to the proper use of motor vehicles under all conditions. Accident statistics reveal the majority of traffic accidents are brought about by human errors."

Wisconsin Gets New Assistant Attorney General

MADISON (AP)—Elliot N. Walstead, a former chairman of the Wisconsin Democratic party, was sworn in Wednesday as a deputy attorney general.

The 56-year-old Walstead of Milwaukee, succeeds Nathan S. Heffernan, who resigned to become U.S. attorney for the Western District of Wisconsin.

Walstead, a native of Dalton, Minn., received his law degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1929 and served as Dane County district attorney from 1935 to 1939.

The oath of office was administered by Atty. Gen. John Reynolds.

Youth Camp to Be Set Up in Vilas County

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin's Conservation and Welfare Departments have signed an agreement for setting up a youth camp site in Vilas County, part of the state's 10-year natural resource program.

The camp will be on Statehouse Lake.

It is the second site selected for camps. The first was determined by the Legislature and will be in Interstate Park in Polk County.

Wilbur Schmidt, Welfare Department director, accepted title to the 80-acre site of the Vilas County facility from L. P. Voigt, director of the conservation agency.

The camps are designed to provide employment for youths between 16 and 19 years of age and not charges of the Welfare Department correctional institutions.

The file of applicants is heavy the Welfare Department said. Each camp will accommodate 100 youths at a time for six week sessions. Workers will be supervised by conservation personnel on park, forestry and fishery projects. Compensation will be $18-week with room and board.

XHS Boys to be Inducted Into Honor Society

Eleven seniors and eight juniors in the Xavier High School boys' department will be inducted into the National Honor Society Feb. 20.

They will be the first members from the boys' department. The girls' department had its first induction in January.

To receive this honor, the students have maintained at least a B average in their academic work, and have given evidence of good character, service and leadership.

Seniors to be inducted are Michael Flanagan, Peter Werner, Lee Mack, Thomas Fuller, John Bach, James Rankin, Thomas Hayes, Bruce Steger, Rodney Langman, Mac Abel and James Trost.

Walk Lights on State 55 Will Be Adjusted

Pedestrians Need More Time to Cross,
Councilmen Say

KAUKAUNA — The council has authorized utility crews to adjust crossing lights at Wisconsin Avenue and State 55 to give pedestrians more time to cross the highway.

Aldermen voted to replace a red light at Hillcrest Drive, Cleveland Avenue and Tenth Street with an amber light. The red blinker was said to be confusing to motorists. Alderman Gil Anderson, chairman of the public protection and safety committee, was told to contact the postmaster about moving a large mailbox at Gertrude and Draper Streets since the box blocked children from view and was an intersection hazard.

Remove Snow Banks

The city engineer was instructed to have high banks of snow removed from various intersections. The board of public works was authorized to create "no parking" and critical traffic areas to facilitate snow removal following severe storms. A no parking area was approved for the west side of Desnoyer Street between Doty Street and Wisconsin Avenue.

Aldermen approved the purchase of 1,200 feet of fire hose from the Egan Supply Company at a cost of $1,536. The bid was almost $200 above the low bid, but deemed most advantageous to the city as recommended by the fire chief.

Joseph Jansen Contractors were authorized to erect entrance signs at LaFollette Park at a cost of $180. The health and recreation committee was authorized to advertise for bids on a Riverside Park shelter. That committee also will study policies governing use of the city ambulance on making long runs from the city. The ambulance is sometimes used to transport patients to Madison, leaving the city without ambulance service for several hours.

Russell Dix, fourth ward alderman, asked the building inspector to take action against Joseph Van Daalwyk to have an old building removed. Dix termed the building "dilapidated and a public nuisance." Council members supported the action and suggested the building inspector contact the owner about razing the structure.

Elmer VanderWyst, a 12th Street resident whose property suffered water damage during heavy rains in 1961, asked councilmen if the problem had been solved. He was told an 18-inch storm sewer had been installed near his home to alleviate some of the load. A complete study of the area and other lands draining into the area near his home will be made soon. Money for the study has been appropriated.

Credit Union Re-Elects Directors, Officers

Two directors were re-elected by the Appleton Wire Credit Union at the annual meeting. They are Robert Schmit and Paul Boettcher.

Officers of the board elected at a special meeting following the annual meeting are George Ward, president; Kurt Koletke, vice president; Robert Schmit, treasurer, and secretary.

Also on the board are John Hamilton, John Knaack and Joseph Hebel.

Frank Sprister was elected to the credit committee. Other committee members are Earl Bauer and Park Bruyette.

Total assets of the credit union are $282,240, an increase of $20,000 over last year. Loans outstanding total $246,134. Four per cent per annum dividends were paid again last year.

Scotch Is THE Thing to Drink In France, but Bourbon's Rising

PARIS—A revolution in French drinking habits has been taking place for the last four years. Four years ago, Scotch whisky was known here only by the few well-traveled members of the international set. Champagne was the thing to drink after dark and any place.

But today Scotch whisky has replaced champagne. The after-dark price of a drink of Scotch in Paris is $1.60.

The following figures will show the upward trend of whisky sales in France. In 1958, there were 144,250 gallons of Scotch sold; the next year, 219,318, and last year, 430,000.

Nobody can explain why Scotch has become so popular in such a short time. It is certainly not due to publicity because no Scotch manufacturer can advertise his product in France. The change is wrongly or rightly attributed to snobism.

American distillers of bourbon are also bidding for the French market. But the French haven't discovered bourbon yet. The American whisky has two disadvantages. It is more expensive and practically unknown; but Scotch, even before its heyday, was often mentioned in movies and popular novels as the smart thing to drink.

Nevertheless, bourbon has made progress. In 1958 there were 775 gallons of bourbon sold here against 5,000 gallons last year.

$360,000 Bond Issue for Six Sewers OK'd

Cost $461,000; Alderman Fights Method of Payment

A bond issue will be sold for $360,000 to support six sewer projects this year costing $461,000. The issue and the projects were approved Wednesday by the common council after Ald Harold Hanneman 10th Ward, charged that the council was not being informed of the true cost of projects by the committees of departments.

Hanneman said true costs should be known at budget time because it would be less expensive to adjust the tax rate than to attempt a bond issue.

Ald Rovance Pointer 14th ward, a member of the street and sanitation committee which recommended approval of the projects, said the committee told the council at budget time we generally spend $300,000 per year for sewer construction and generally ask for $100,000 in the budget.

The following projects were approved: Industrial Park lift station $25,000; Ballard Road at L. S. 41 $50,000; Locust Street and Badger Avenue plus a Mason Street subway $90,000; minor projects on Ullman and Harris streets $10,000; Gullitt Highlands in the Westview area $214,000; Schaefer Park area $72,000.

All but the Industrial Park construction are storm sewers. A sanitary sewer is slated for construction at the lift station.

Car Stalls on Tracks; Man Uninjured

OSHKOSH — Kenneth G. Seely, 28, Winneconne, lost his car but not his life when the car was struck by a Soo Line freight train at the County Trunk Y crossing north of Winnebago at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Seely told county police he had stopped at the railroad tracks and noticed the train was quite a distance away. He started to cross the tracks when the manual transmission locked he said. Seely got out of the car and tried to push it off the tracks but was unable to clear it in time. The train of which Lawrence Sage Fond du Lac was the engineer struck the car demolishing it.

A Chicago and North Western section track motor car, operated by Richard A. Luebke, 51, 1917 Simpson St., Oshkosh, and a car driven by Mrs. Ruth A. Kerszyn, route 1, Oshkosh, were damaged in an accident at 8:52 a.m. Wednesday on the County Trunk Y crossing in the Town of Black Wolf.

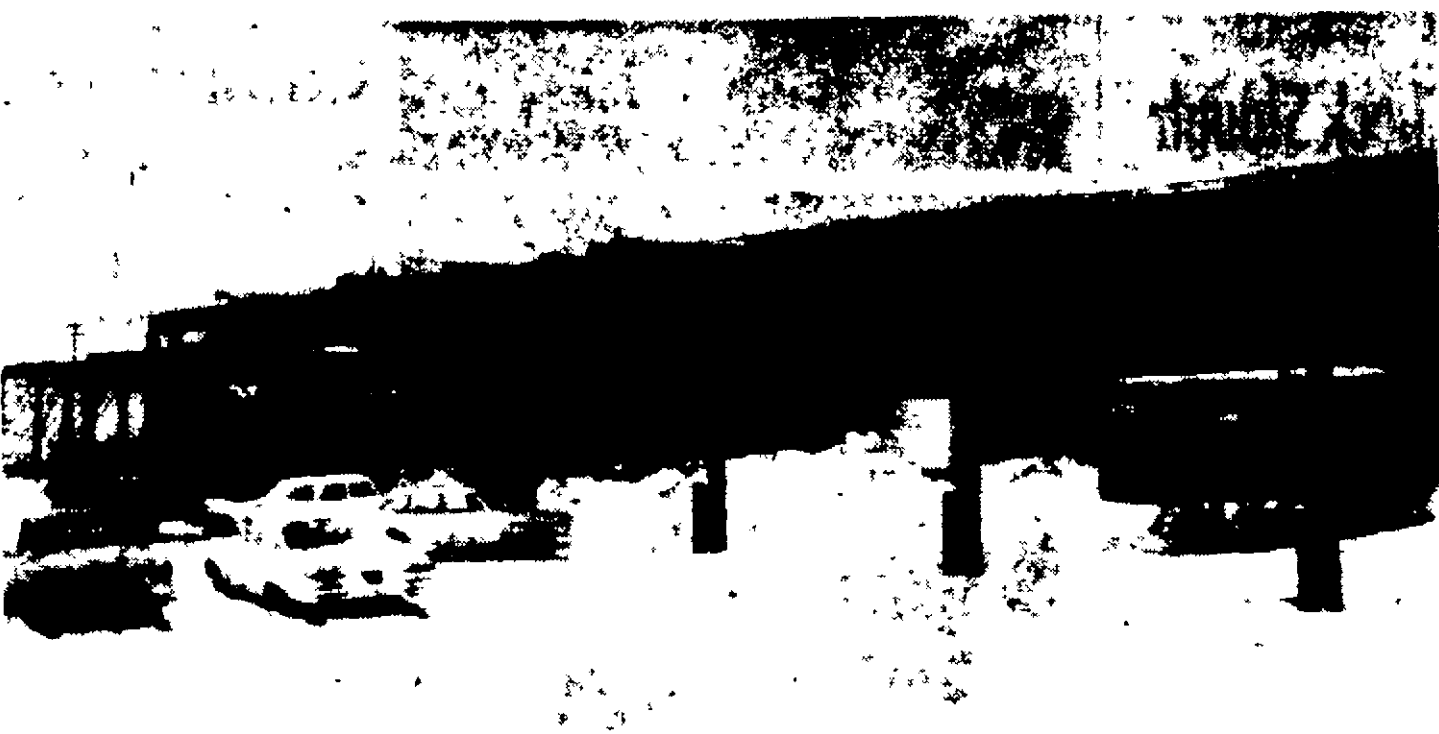

Johus C. Sellen, 53, 302A W. 17th Ave., Oshkosh, a passenger on the section car complained of pains on the left side, back and left leg as a result of the accident. Mrs. Kerszyn said she slowed down on approaching the track and did not notice the section car and started across the tracks striking the vehicle.

Britain, U. S. to Co-Operate on Underground Test

WASHINGTON, AP — The Atomic Energy Commission announced today the United States and Britain have agreed to co-operate in testing a low yield British nuclear device underground in Nevada within the next few weeks.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, AEC chairman, said:

The test was authorized by President Kennedy at the request of the British government. It will be conducted under the agreement for cooperation on the uses of atomic energy for mutual defense purposes which has been in effect between the two countries since Aug. 4, 1958.

Work on the $500,000 United Grocers warehouse being constructed in Little Chute is about a month behind schedule due to winter weather. Crews still are hopeful of completing the job early this spring. Shown is a view of the building taken from the west side.

No Dancing In Outagamie Courthouse!

There will be no dancing in Outagamie County courthouse if the county's public buildings and insurance committee has its way.

The committee Wednesday drew up a resolution that would establish a policy on use of the courthouse and annex space for private meetings.

The committee said it has been reported by the maintenance department that people have been dancing after private meetings.

The other provisions of the resolution which will be presented to the county board Tuesday call for meetings to be adjourned at 10:45 and the rooms to be vacated by 11 p.m. The rooms must be kept orderly and cigarette butts and ashes are to be confined to the ash cans provided. There will be no parties, dancing or games at meetings, the resolution states.

Mayor Reappoints 4 City Officials

NEENAH — Mayor Chester S. Bell Wednesday reappointed four city officials to new terms of three years each.

Named to succeed themselves on the park board were Henry Krueger, James C. Crust and Ira Caple. Returned to the Board of Appeals was Thad C. Epps.

Joseph Beisenstein, another member of the Board of Appeals, declined reappointment and will be replaced at a later date. Mayor Bell said.

State Air Traffic Growth Near Top

In Some Respects It Outstripped Nation's Advance From '45 to '61

BY JAY REED

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

STEVENS POINT — Thomas K. Jordan, director of the Wisconsin State Aeronautics Commission, looked to the sky with hope and to the ground with some fear as the two-day seventh annual state aeronautics conference opened here today.

In opening the conference this morning Jordan said Wisconsin's growth has paralleled and in some respects outstripped national air transportation growth from 1945 to 1961. He said Wisconsin has grown from 112,000 enplaned passengers and two airline stops in 1945 to about 360,000 passengers and 16 airline stops in 1961.

Jordan said growth of air transportation means that many passengers who formerly used rail and bus carriers now travel by air. Today the airlines operate almost as many passenger miles in scheduled interstate service as the railroad and motor carriers combined, said Jordan.

But Jordan voiced certain fears concerning the effect of super highways in America. He cited in Krueger, James C. Crust and Ira Caple. Returned to the Board of Appeals was Thad C. Epps.

Joseph Beisenstein, another member of the Board of Appeals, declined reappointment and will be replaced at a later date. Mayor Bell said.

importance and one to which our future attention must be devoted, the commission official said. About 160 delegates had registered at the Whiting Hotel by noon. More were coming in the morning session broke for lunch.

The sessions which will conclude Friday noon are being held in the grey stone auditorium of the Hardware Mutual Insurance Co. across the street from the hotel. The conference will reach a climax of sorts at a banquet tonight when Gordon R. Parkinson, Kansas City, Mo., president of Trans World Airlines, will present a keynote address. A panel discussion this afternoon was to investigate factors and problems in measuring a community's airport needs. Another panel was to take up the value of good airport operation.

Parental Rights Of Murderer Derber Ended

OSHKOSH — County Judge Arnold J. Cane Wednesday afternoon terminated the parental rights of Richard Derber, 20, Oshkosh, his son and ordered the boy placed with the Lutheran Welfare Society pending adoption proceedings.

Derber is under sentence at the Wisconsin State Reformatory at Green Bay for the first degree murder last August of his estranged wife. He agreed voluntarily to the termination of parental rights.

The boy's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Felker, Oshkosh, are seeking to adopt their grandson. The court was advised under state law the boy must be placed with the state welfare department or an accredited welfare agency prior to adoption if he has not lived with adopting party for more than a year.

Voter Registration In Menasha Town Set

MENASHA — The last of the special pre-registration days for Town of Menasha residents will be Wednesday at Spring Road School and Thursday at the Fox Cooperative. Registrations will be received at each place from 7 to 9 p.m. Town Clerk Robert Jacobs announced.

Those who registered in the August and January special registration periods need not sign again. Those who have not registered since the last election must register now in order to vote at the March 6 primary.

Previously, persons registered when they came to vote. Now that the town population exceeds 5,000, pre-registration is required and the residents register only once rather than at each election. This registration remains permanent as long as they remain residents of the town.

Name Oshkosh Man to AAA Advisory Board

William R. Castle, president of Castle Pierce Printing Co., Oshkosh, was appointed to the state advisory board of the Wisconsin division of AAA.

Castle is past vice president of the Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce and Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, and is treasurer of the Oshkosh Rotary Club. He joins Carl E. Steiger and William M. Wright as members of the Oshkosh AAA Advisory Committee.

Correction

A raise in swimming rates in two Appleton swimming pools and the signing of the 1962 Fox Cities Foxes baseball contract for use of Goodland Field were approved by the recreation commission and not the park board as stated in Wednesday's Post-Crescent.

Schreier Gets Alderman Job

Supervisor Will Serve Sixth Ward Until Spring Vote

Sixth Ward Supv. John Schreier, 1008 W. Spencer St., was selected to a temporary alderman's chair in the sixth Ward Wednesday and provisions were made to elect another alderman to fill the First Ward vacancy Feb. 21.

Schreier will sit in the common council until April 3 when voters in the sixth ward election will choose a new alderman for the Sixth Ward. Schreier takes Ald. Charles Caplan's position on the council. Caplan resigned in January before he moved out of the ward.

The council will conduct a special election Feb. 21 to fill the unexpired term of First Ward Ald. Roger LaBerge. LaBerge resigned in January to accept the position of city sealer of weights and measures.

The council will accept applications for the vacancy in the First Ward from ward residents until the time of election. The selected alderman will fill the chair until April 1963.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell appointed LaBerge to the city seal of weights and measures after LaBerge scored highest in a state examination. LaBerge's appointment was approved by the common council Wednesday.

Consultants Loop For Shelter Sites

NEENAH — Consultants of Hartmann Strass Consulting Engineers, Milwaukee, were making a preliminary reconnaissance of the Twin Cities and Winnebago County Wednesday and today to find possible public fallout shelter sites.

The consultants next week will make contacts with owners of the buildings to secure their use. They worked with Wayne G. Brylan, Neenah director of public works, and with Allen E. Merrill, Menasha building inspector.

The consultant firm has been hired by the state civil defense organization.

Dismiss Morals Case Against Oshkosh Man

OSHKOSH — A charge of abnormal sex relations with an Oshkosh girl was dismissed this morning against Harold F. Meyer, 36 31 W. 10th Ave., Oshkosh. Judge Cane dismissed the charge. The company claims the same Judge Cane dismissed the charge. The Transfers won a certification election at Pierce Auto Body late in 1961, to replace a shop union.

Members of the Appleton Moose Lodge make plans for the state mid-winter conference, to be held in Appleton Feb. 16, 17 and 18. From left are John Sealy, general chairman of the conference, Adolph Ipstein, Mooseheart, Ill., special representative of the lodge, and standing, Darrell Holcomb, governor of the Appleton lodge, Charles Baker, Neenah, Fifth District vice president, and Andrew Jimos, membership chairman.

Council OKs Zoning For Supermarket

Official Says Store Will be Up in 90 Days

Appleton's Common Council Wednesday approved by a 11-6 vote the rezoning of a residential block on Walter Avenue to allow a supermarket to be built there. The property located on the west side of Walter Avenue between Harriet and Gunn streets will be changed from single family residence to light manufacturing and commercial zoning.

Construction of a $125,000 Super Valu market, the second in the Fox Cities, will begin late in March or in early April. Harvey Doering, Kaukauna, the supermarket manager, estimated today.

Here's Roll Call Of Rezoning Vote

Here's how members of the common council voted on the rezoning of a block on Walter Avenue between Harriet and Gunn streets.

Voting No were: Harold Hanneman, 10th Ward; Homer Malmstrom, Second Ward; Allan Sankowsky, 16th Ward; Mrs. Dorothy Stilling, Seventh Ward; Al Stoebach, Fourth Ward; Robert Stumpf, Ninth Ward.

The building will be completed 90 days after construction begins and will include space for a drug store and one or two small businesses.

Third Time

Wednesday night's approval of the ordinance change was the third time the request had come before the common council. In its first fight over the supermarket, Dec. 20, the council approved 15-2 a request by Long Wacker and Karl Appleton real estate brokers that the block be rezoned from single family residence to commercial.

In the second battle Jan. 17, the council voted 4-8 to publish an ordinance including the rezoning.

Both council approvals were in disregard of city planning. Walter Kasmuson recommended a lien on that the supermarket not be built on the selected site because it

Pierce Auto Talks Enter Third Round

Representatives of Pierce Auto Body Shop Inc. and Teamsters Local 363 went into the third round of talks at 1 p.m. today at the Conway Hotel.

The talks were conducted by Arvid Anderson, Employment Relations Board mediator.

The Teamsters struck the company Jan. 31. Talks conducted Jan. 30 were broken off and further talks Jan. 31 were halted with no agreement reached.

The union claims the company admitted wage $80 in gains from the car of Tom Kari, Oshkosh, Nov. 15 and $94.42 in tires and wheels from an Oshkosh North western Co. truck Dec. 11. Brew admitted receiving the stolen tires and wheels.

The Four Principles of the Lawrence College 1962 Religion in Life Conference met last night at the three day event opened in Harper Hall. Seated left is Dr. Cornelius Golightly, assistant professor of philosophy at the University of Wisconsin Milwaukee, the opening speaker, with Dr. Robert Fitch, dean of the Pacific School of Religion, principal speaker of the sessions. Standing are students Robert Bezucha, Racine, left, chairman of the conference steering board, and Alex Wilde, Wauwatosa, coordinator.

Sentencing For 2 Young Thieves Set

OSHKOSH — Sentencing was set by County Judge Arnold J.

Cane this morning for 1:00 p.m. Wednesday in the case of two youths who had admitted various offenses.

James P. and John W. Wacker, Ave. Oshkosh, and Daniel F. Wacker, 19, route 2, Pearl, admitted four charges of burglary and larceny. Being admitted a fifth charge plus two petty larcenies.

County Judge Arnold J. Cane ordered both youths jailed without bond until sentenced Wednesday, but 1:00 p.m. Green Lake County authorities had declined to consolidate a larceny charge with the burglary charge. The two youths admitted receiving stolen property involved in one of the petty larcenies.

Two Views

Happiness may be seen as a state in which it is possible for one to live a life of reason without conflict in an aristocratic view and luck to Plato and the Stoics.

He said it may be viewed as the greatest good for the greatest number of people in which compromise is central in the utilitarian democratic definition he said.

Complicating a decision in which one would like to seek happiness, however, can be the absolute which for us constitute righteousness and principles which one will not compromise, Golightly noted.

It is at the point where we find the commonities challenged that we feel justified in turning to force for their defense, he explained. Bargaining ceases to be a possibility when the principles which have come to us out of our Western civilization are threatened as they were, for example, by Hitler and Fascism, he said.

Rightful Force

The balance of Golightly's address concentrated upon the forms that rightful force can take. The way of violence is taken, he said, by those who have power because it is simple, fast and cheap.

Pressman Applies For Alderman Job In First Ward

Richard G. Huisman, 37, 1002 N. Superior St., is the first First Ward resident to file an informal application for the vacant alderman position in his ward.

Huisman sent a letter of application to Mayor Clarence Mitchell this morning. The applications will be screened and voted on by members of the Appleton common council at its next meeting Feb. 21.

Huisman has been employed at Tuttle Press Co. as a pressman for 16 years. He is a member of the budget committee of the United Community Fund and is active in community-wide campaigns conducted by his company.

Huisman is married and has one child. The First Ward vacancy was created when Ald. Roger LaBerge resigned to become city sealer of weights and measures. The alderman position will be filled until April 1963.

Eighteen head of beef cattle, a riding horse and a farm dog died when fire destroyed a 36 by 80-foot barn at the Alfred Kalbus farm, five miles northwest of Shiocton Wednesday afternoon. Fire departments from Shiocton and New London were called to fight the blaze in near zero temperatures.

Neenah City Council Approves Inspection At Cost of $4,500

NEENAH — The City Council Wednesday night approved the Public Works Committee recommendation that the American Pipe Cleaning Co. be hired to inspect those sanitary sewers known to be carrying an abnormal amount of water.

Cost of the inspection to be accomplished by means of closed circuit television will be between $4,000 and $5,000.

The company is committed by its contract to provide the city with a complete written and pictorial record of its studies, the council was told.

Ald. Carl Coenen, who first proposed the study because he believed the interceptor sewer and the sewer may hold the key to the problem, later voted in favor of the contract.

I don't want to stand in the way of continuous work on the sewer for a matter of $4,500, he said. At the same time present endorsed the project.

Absent from Wednesday's session was Ald. James Driscoll, high ward.

Ald. Warren Sanders said he approached the survey with some trepidation. Just as the money was spent last year on sewer correction did little to keep water out of the sewer.

We are now in a park at the foot of the creek, he said. Flooding problem.

Sanders added that he hoped committee recommendation that some way could be found to the $772.65 claim of Kenneth Wis measure the flow in the sewer and against the city for digging and detouring where the sewer is properly located in full.

In voting for this because I accepted the settlement, Sanders said. We haven't faced up to the

Neenah's Mayor Disappointed by CD Opposition

NEENAH — Mayor Chester S. Bell said today that he was "deeply disappointed" to learn that the Menasha Council "was opposed to formation of an area-wide Civil Defense organization."

The mayor said he "could only assume from reported statements that the matter had not been sufficiently explained to the (Menasha) council and they were rejecting a project quite different from the one actually proposed."

The project as discussed so far merely contemplates the joining of our Civil Defense plans into one organization which could be effective in this section of the county, including the two cities and their surrounding townships.

A joint CD commission would be created which would include two representatives from each community, he added.

A method of apportionment could be based upon population or equalized value or a combination of the two factors, the mayor said.

The plan is so logical and the advantages of combining our joint efforts are so definite, I cannot believe the Menasha council will reject the proposal when they have an opportunity to understand the details now being formulated.

At the present time he reported 41 is carrying 6,000 to 10,000 cars a day around Oshkosh. This figure could easily double in 20 years, he added.

Empey said survey shows accident rates on a limited access highway to be only one-third of an unimproved access road.

Closing off of 41 is not a one or two year program, Empey stated, but rather a 10 to 15 year project.

problem of keeping water out of the sewer, he said.

Mayor Chester S. Bell said the council is morally responsible to follow this matter up.

In other action the council referred to the City Plan Commission request by Mary Ellen Erickson of a parcel of property at the northern corner of Menasha and Maple and Haylett Streets at 3:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Gilbert fell from her car after the impact and received a head injury, lacerations and contusions. Erickson was not hurt.

Police said the Erickson car skidded 60 feet prior to the collision and continued on 60 more feet into a snowbank after the cars collided.

Cars driven by Richard M. Gaertner, 820 Appleton St. Menasha, and Miss James Buchanan, 269 E. Wisconsin Ave. were damaged in a collision in front of the latter's home at 4:20 p.m. Wednesday. Both were headed west on E. Wisconsin Avenue and Mrs. Buchanan was about to turn left into her driveway when the cars collided.

Mayor Bell presented a safety award for two cars without a fatality accident to the Pink Devils. The plaque was accepted in behalf of the department by Thomas Baci, a park at the foot of the creek, he said. Flooding problem.

Sanders added that he hoped committee recommendation that some way could be found to the $772.65 claim of Kenneth Wis measure the flow in the sewer and against the city for digging and detouring where the sewer is properly located in full.

Two Fire Calls

NEENAH — Fire calls were received at the Oshkosh Wednesday night for two fires. The first was at the corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, where a fire broke out in a building. The second was at the corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, where a fire broke out in a building.

NEENAH — Extreme caution in driving today was asked by motorists by Mayor Chester S. Bell particularly in the area around schools where children are at play.

The mayor pointed out that while the street crews are working to the best of their ability many of Neenah's streets are covered with glare ice, making driving conditions very difficult.

Because of the glare ice, the mayor asked the cooperation of motorists, he said.

In the meantime city crews are continuing to salt and sand the streets to improve conditions.

Official to Check Slough At Neenah

Federal Water Chief On Fact-Finding Mission to Area

NEENAH — A representative of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare will visit the city Friday in order to gather information about the slough project, Ald. Carl Coenen told the City Council Wednesday night.

Merrill Gamet, chief of water quality, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will arrive by auto at approximately 11 a.m., Coenen said. If the highways are bad he will arrive from Chicago by train.

Coenen said he had received a phone call from Gamet, who regretted not having attended Tuesday's U.S. Army Corps of Engineers hearing on the Fox and Wolf River water levels at Appleton.

Gamet said he planned to view the slough during his visit Friday.

Wrong Time

Mayor Chester S. Bell took strong exception to the idea that a visit by Gamet would be beneficial at this time.

This is the worst possible time to invite inspection of the slough, the mayor told Coenen. It would be difficult even to trace the course of the slough any distance.

The evil odor, luxuriant weeds and flooding are all absent during the winter, the mayor added.

Coenen responded, however, that it would be in his opinion best to take advantage of Gamet's offer and brief him on the slough project during his visit.

Gamet's trip was arranged by Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.)

Neenah Debaters To Vie at Point

NEENAH — Neenah High School debate squad will take part in the sectional meet Saturday at Wisconsin State College Stevens Point.

This is the final session before the state contest. The Neenah teams must win a minimum of four out of the six debates to continue to the state contest.

The affirmative team on Saturday will be Barbara Buchanan and Kathryn Halvorson and the negative team, James Hedlund and William Shuckley. Alternates will be Richard Dwelle and Ann Giovannini.

Circulate Petition In Spring Road Area Asking Referendum

NEENAH — Petitions are now in circulation in the Spring Road School District No. 1 of the Town of Menasha asking for a referendum vote on the order of the Winnebago County School committee dissolving the Spring Road district and attaching it to the Neenah school system.

Deadline for filing the petitions is Feb. 17 and at least 60 signers are required to have such a referendum. Such a referendum would be held at the April 3 election.

Orders Vagrant Out Of Winnebago County

Perez pleaded guilty of vagrancy where he stayed overnight.

Area Jaycees Join Fight Against Communist Groups

NEENAH — Winnebago district leaders of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night voted unanimously for the Jaycees' anti-Communism struggle.

The motion was made by Dennis Herrling, president of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce to put the district on record in support of the State Jaycee organization's resolution, adopted at the quarterly convention in Superior to encourage action to fight communism.

Copies of the district and state resolutions are being sent state and national government officials by Jaycee groups from all over the nation.

The action marks the first official stand by the group against Communism.

From the Winnebago district meeting in Neenah Wednesday were Junior Chambers of Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Berlin, Green Lake, Fond du Lac, Montello, New London, Omro and Ripon.

The Menasha fire vehicles now are on the police radio network but must be in their own channel by August.

60-Day Period

NEENAH — The city's zoning law to the Mobil Oil Co. on its ordinance was amended Wednesday night so as to permit the use of a newly-constructed home for a period of 60 days.

The amendment approved unanimously by the nine aldermen present will prevent the extended use of a home for display purposes and eliminate certain abuses that have developed.

Atty. Charles Schaller told the council.

Schaller said that administration of the new law will be the task of Building Inspector Carlton Williams. The council earlier had received complaints that some new homes were being used for display purposes for lengthy periods of time in violation of city zoning regulations.

Schaller said a builder could show a prospective buyer through any home at any time but that the new amendment would regulate the length of time the doors of an unsold house could be left open to attract throngs of people without specific appointments to view the house.

Committee to Study Neenah Primary Need

City Council Instructs Finance Group to Prepare Report on Special Spring Vote

NEENAH — The finance committee of the City Council was directed Wednesday night to consider the need for an ordinance requiring a primary before the spring elections in the event there are more than two candidates for the office of mayor.

The council referred the matter to the committee for study after receiving a letter from former Ald. Gilbert H. Krueger.

In his letter Krueger urged that a primary vote be held for the office of mayor, and praised an editorial on the subject published in the Twin City News-Record.

"It is not possible to have a primary this year in the spring election," City Atty. Charles Schaller told the council. Ald. Aaron Dix then proposed that the question be referred to the proper committee with instructions to come up with a recommendation for the future.

In his letter Krueger also requested that he be sent a copy of the contract between the Neenah Menasha Sewerage Commission and Kimberly-Clark Corp. for sewerage service for Lakeview Mill.

The Town Board in its role as sanitary commissioners will meet later to set the actual assessment and the means of paying the assessments. Various facts brought out at the hearing in response to questions are:

1. The rate for the intercept or sewer assessment per front foot will be the same as that to be set later for the extension of sewer laterals into the other parts of the district.

2. The proposed $3 rate will pay only a part of the cost of the intercept sewer installation, the rest being spread across the entire sanitary district through payments on general obligation bonds.

Connection Charge

3. The proposed $180 connection fee to extend the sewer from the street to the property line will apply to all persons hooking onto the intercept sewer and is to be paid when such connection is made to connect the home or business to the sewer system. If the hookup is not made at this time but several years later the charge then will be whatever the cost is at that time. It does not have to be connected now unless the property owner so desires.

4. Other areas in the town will receive sewer service upon their petitioning for such service. Hearings will be held for each such addition so that persons not wanting sewer service may object to such extension and assessment.

5. Whether cemeteries, railroads and the University of Wisconsin — Fox Valley Center will pay any special assessments on the sewer installation will be determined by the sanitary commissioners. It being noted that of public works said the cemeteries places will receive no benefit is now working on the problem and hopes to be able to lay the grades before the council from Appleton H. E. Minter for possible action by this Milwaukee Road division engineer registered a protest against any assessment against the railroad and A. W. Ponath Outagamie County corporation council inquired as to the status of the university center.

6. Corner lots are likely to receive half of the sewer installation along both sides without charge up to a maximum of 90 feet. Thus it was explained a lot 60 by 120 feet would have a total of 180 feet and be assessed for 90 feet while a lot 80 by 120 would have 200 feet of which 90 feet would be without charge and payment would be on the remaining 110 feet.

7. The intercept sewer size is figured at the size needed to serve 16 persons for each acre. A. W. Scholl of the McMahon Engineering Co. advised those present that the State Board of Health would not approve an oversize sewer.

8. If a person owns two parcels of property divided by a public road perpendicular to the sewer he will not be assessed the $3 per foot charge for the road width.

400 Days to Complete

Town Chairman Amos Page, who presided at the hearing and along with Scholl and Ray Fink town attorney answered the questions said the contracts had been signed for the treatment plant which is to be completed in 400 days.

A short term bond is planned to cover the assessments until these are paid while a long term general obligation bond is contemplated to handle the balance of the sewer installation costs and the treatment plant.

The special assessments will yield only about $145,000 of the approximate estimated $670,000 cost.

may create a traffic hazard on one of the city's main arteries between Appleton and Kimberly.

Three Other Bids

Rasmussen suggested three alternate sites on the city's south east side for the supermarket but none were acceptable to the builders.

Few councilmen Wednesday night wasted the opportunity to be heard on the subject. Ald. Robert Stumpf, North Ward, told councilmen not to "bend to pressures" but vote on your convictions in the rezoning matter.

Stumpf said the council should heed the advice of a professional city planner and not make serious mistakes we can't mend in the next few years.

Hewitt's Takes On Sheboygan At Mt. Calvary

NEENAH — Hewitt Machines return to Mt. Calvary tournament play at 8:15 p.m. today against Quakers Brothers of Sheboygan in a losers' bracket game.

The Machinemen lost their first game to Port Washington in the double elimination affair but remained in the tourney by defeating St. Cloud.

Also still in contention is Harkness of Oshkosh, whose Ron Dibelius scored 36 points in one of last week's games.

Hewitt's dropped a 95-82 decision to the St. Norbert jayvees at West De Pere Monday night. Guard Ruf Ihde has a chipped elbow and his future status is doubtful.

Businessmen Compete for TV Stations

28 Groups Look To Invest $2 Million In Middle-Size Cities

BY JAMES M. HASWELL
CHICAGO Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Twenty-eight groups of businessmen are competing for a chance to invest up to $2,000,000 in a new TV station in a middle-sized American city.

Six groups are seeking a Grand Rapids opening. 10 are after a southeast part of the city and Federal Communications Commission license for Syracuse, N.Y., and 12 want to go into TV in Rochester, N.Y.

Each city has TV now. These would be new competing stations. They are the first new openings in a long time.

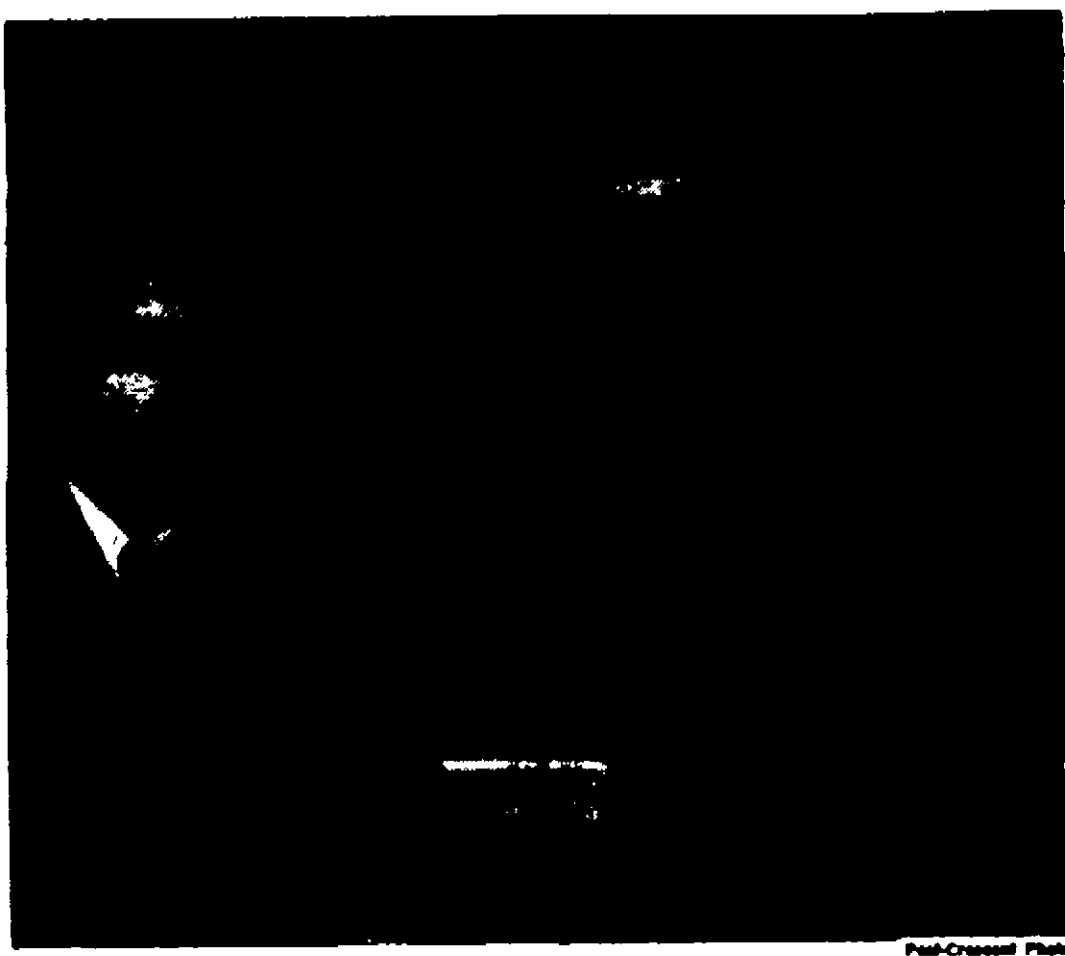

Chairman Newton Minow of the FCC thinks the rush of would-be investors is a sign that demand has outrun the supply of TV stations.

The TV business is prospering. Of 498 outstanding commercial VHF licenses, 448 are operating. In addition, 80 commercial stations have resorted to ultra-high frequency (UHF) channels.

Standard Set
The standard TV set carries 13 numbers on its dial and can receive pictures on 13 channels in the very high frequency or VHF range. Because of interference, only a few of these channels can be used in any one city.

But dozens of equally good TV channels are going unused in the UHF range because the standard TV set does not receive these pictures without a converter. Converting TV in the comparative narrow VHF channel range can create a monopoly type situation of a few stations enjoying big business and offering viewers limited choices of programs.

Equip With UHF
Minow would like to break this up by having Congress require all new sets in the hospital to be set up to receive UHF as well as VHF. He says the alternative may

The Appleton Area U. S. Navy recruiting staff has been expanded with the addition of Chief Boilerman Ralph R. Garrison, left, 503 W. Spring St. A native of Wisconsin and a veteran of 17 years of navy service, Chief Garrison was stationed aboard the USS Brinkley Bass before coming to Appleton. He has served on recruiting duty previously in Oshkosh and Wisconsin Rapids. Chief Robert Mullarkey, right, greets Garrison, who replaces Chief Howard Waggoner, now assigned to Atlantic submarine duty.

Norwegian Dinner

Ski Jumping Tournament Climax For Iola Fourth Annual Carnival

IOLA — Arrangements are complete for the three-day Winter Carnival beginning with the Norwegian supper Friday evening and continuing through Sunday. A Norwegian theme will be seen in costumes and activities emphasized by Scandinavian displays and costumes in Iola businesses. Prizes will be awarded to merchants with the best use of the Norwegian theme in decorations and costumes of employees.

The Norwegian supper sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary will feature traditional Norwegian holiday and special occasion foods, including lutefisk and lefse, meatballs and gravy, carrots and peas, cole slaw, cranberry relish, Norwegian pastries and coffee. Serving will begin at 4 p.m. Friday with waitresses in Norwegian costumes and Scandinavian room decorations. The meal will be served in the school multi-purpose room.

At 8 p.m. in the high school gym the Lions Club will sponsor a stage featuring folk dancers from La Crosse State College presenting "United Nations Through Dance." The 50 member troupe will demonstrate folk dances from several countries of the world including the Scandinavian group.

St. Mary Holding Career Counseling

MENASHA — A special program in career choices is being conducted this week at St. Mary High School by Brother Thomas Corcoran, C.S.C., of the Mid West Province of Brothers of Holy Cross with headquarters at Notre Dame, Ind.

Brother Corcoran will include full guidance counseling in his 1944 and separated Sept. 6, 1961. Marys and as many of the low er classes as time permits.

Hilbert Has New Case of Hepatitis

HILBERT — One new case of infectious hepatitis has been reported here, according to Mrs. Louis Wilcox, Calumet County public health nurse.

The latest Hilbert area resident to be stricken with the serious and contagious liver inflammation is a 5-year-old girl, Mrs. Wilcox reported, however, that the girl has a mild form of the disease. She had received gamma globulin serum in a protective inoculation.

Hilbert was hit with an outbreak of infectious hepatitis in December and January when five elementary school children were stricken. Classmates and playmates of the first five children with confirmed cases of the disease were inoculated at a special clinic in late January. About 102 in all, including some teachers, received the serum.

Divorce Granted

OSHKOSH — Viola Oshky La Crosse 45 Neenah Wednesday afternoon was granted a divorce from Joseph E. LaCrosse 47 Neenah by County Judge Herbert J. Mueller. She charged cruel and inhuman treatment.

The couple was married Nov. 8, 1944 and separated Sept. 6, 1961. There are no children and a property settlement was held in abeyance.

UW Professor Outlines 'Right To Use of Force'

When one is less certain of one's power, one turns to negotiation, he said, and when even this is no longer a possibility one must resort to non-violent methods of applying force.

Non-violence, he continued, is essentially the technique of weak people of those who are unable to achieve their moral ends in any other way. It often seems strange to the Western mind which has historically identified force with its own advantage. One position and has never had to learn what the word must mean to the underdog, he said.

Golightly, a Negro born and educated in Mississippi, took the fight of the American Negroes for civil rights as an illustration of the non-violent use of force to fight a moral battle. He emphasized that this was turned to after Christianity, Thoreau and Gandhi's methods had failed.

King stresses that there must be physical passivity with constant mental and spiritual activity. He care not to humiliate opponents looking forward to living amicably with them in the future. Separation of the issues from the people involved, acceptance without retaliation of needs, cause every set owner to buy a sary suffering, and discourage converter or a new set. It would ment of internal violence as well cause expense and inconvenience.

Hugh Gear Sr. Again Heads Dairy Plant Operators Unit

OSHKOSH — Hugh Gear Sr. was re-elected president of the Wisconsin Dairy Plant Operators Association Tuesday at the Viking Winchester.

Other officers reelected were John Schaefer, Marten Dairy, Neenah vice president and Richard Ames, Guernsey Dairy, Oshkosh secretary-treasurer.

Eugene Lehman, Lone Star non Peroutky discussed pesticide use and reported information would be available to area farmers in the safe use of pesticides in dairy buildings.

A special committee has been organized to draw up plans to assist high school juniors and seniors of the various possibilities of advanced training in the areas of dairy food manufacturing, packaging and marketing. Willis DiVall, Winneconne High School vocational agriculture teacher, was named committee chairman.

Ex-Rationing Chief Dies in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Don T. Allen, 63, organizer and director of the federal government's rationing program in Wisconsin during World War II, died Wednesday night at a hospital after a five-month illness.

Until five years ago Allen headed Don T. Allen Industries Inc., a producer of factory built homes which were trucked to the site and completed in about 40 working hours.

Two weeks ago Allen was near death while in the hospital to the set makers to equip new sets for La Veda Thake, a book keeper and secretary of the firm broadcasts. He first wife died two years ago.

Oshkosh Council Approves Controversial Lot Lease

OSHKOSH — Approval was given Wednesday afternoon by the Common Council to the controversial lease between the city and RMH Insurance Agency Inc. If the group fails to exercise turning over to the insurance agency the municipally owned parking lot at Division Street and High Avenue as a motel site, the city for $13,900 the price of an adjoining lot owned by Stein Councilman John Fitzgerald said the council was managing for the Ridditz and making a grave mistake by en Mr. Agency, absented himself during the voting.

The 2-year lease gives the group headed by E. G. Stumbl, bet and Phil Raddatz a 15-year option to purchase the lot for $35,000 for the first three years and an annual price increase of $2,000 the next five years. $1,000 annually the next five and $3,500 annually the last two.

Other terms of the lease are an annual rental of $1,000 a year and a $5.00 increase each year complete their parking survey.

Runaway Productions Cause Movie Paradox

Unemployment Problem in Hollywood While Industry Films in Foreign Lands

BY JINGO
The film industry is keeping its distributors filled with products while supporting an unemployment problem on its home front.
The answer to this apparent paradox is the plague of runaway productions with which the film industry has been infected recently. So serious is the plague that there has been some talk of a congressional investigation.

Hollywood has made some excuse for the run-aways based on production costs and location sites. Despite the dedication of the employment picture for highly skilled workers, the industry has made something of a good case for itself.

However, the case is being weakened, by some recent runaways.

Bob Hope and Bing Crosby made "The Road to Hong Kong" in London. Now Sam Benicci is planning "The Fall of the Roman Empire" in Hong Kong.

And most of "The French Revolution" in Spain, while pre-ducer Alex Gottlieb is thinking about doing a remake of "Chicago" in Detroit.

There's no business like show business. But this approach is ridiculous.

With all of the Hollywood-based facilities standing ready, the major companies have only three projects underway—that's one each. These are "Jumbo" at MGM, "Who's Got the Action" at Paramount and "Gypsy" at Warner.

Four big independent companies are using some of the facilities. They include Yul Brynner and Tony Curtis "Taras Bulba," recently returned from South American locations; Burt Lancaster and Judy Garland's "A Child Is Waiting"; Shirley MacLaine and Robert Mitchum's "Two for the Seesaw," and Frank Sinatra's "The Manchurian Candidate."

One other film is being shot in Hollywood. It promises to be one of the dirtiest released. At least its name, "The Slime People," would indicate such results.

Recently a reader from Kaukauna paid Jingo a big compliment by quoting a column writ-

Ziegfeld Girls Meet for 25th Anniversary

Members of Club Once Follies Beauties From 1908 to 1931

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There was a sizable display of rinks, but some cloth coats, too. Some brought along their husbands, but many came singly. They seemed to have one thing in common: a joy of life, spawned in a wonderful era.

These were the Ziegfeld Girls, meeting for the 25th anniversary of their Ziegfeld Club. There were grandmothers and even great-grandmothers among them, but some were still stunning to behold, like Bernice Dalton Jansen, mother of actor David Jansen, and a lovely brunette who recalled wearing a hat and a few rosebuds in the Follies of 1930.

When I dropped in at the Ziegfeld Club's banquet at the Hotel Roosevelt the first person I met was Billie Burke. Flo Ziegfeld's widow was the guest of honor.

"They're such brave girls," said the still-lovely actress of the club members. Then she added as an afterthought: "I think anyone must be brave to go into show business."

Beaulah McFarland (Follies '18-'24) is head of the local chapter. She paused between her duties to tell about the club. It was founded 25 years ago in New York, where there are now 200 members. In recent years groups have formed in Los Angeles (75 members) and Miami (50).

The girls meet for monthly get-togethers and sometimes raise money for members whose luck has turned sour.

The Ziegfeld Follies ran from 1908 to 1931, but Mrs. McFarland said there was no difficulty about members' dating themselves. "The ones who won't admit their age won't join," she said.

Two former Ziegfeld Follies girls, Mae Miller, left and Billie Burke, seated, get together with a Ziegfeld girl of the future, Jean Carroll, as they attended a meeting of the California chapter of the club in Hollywood. Miss Burke, Flo Ziegfeld's widow, was the guest of honor. Miss Carroll will be one of the show girls in the 1962 Follies to be produced in Las Vegas.
